Gas-Triggered Explosion

10 Killed And 99 Injured In Canadian Store Blast

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — A gas-triggered explosion ripped through a crowded downtown department store here Tuesday, caving in walls, shattering windows and hurling bodies into the street.

At least 10 persons died.

Seven bodies were recovered. Another person died in a hospital. Rescue crews worked through the night in near-freezing temperatures to free at least two more bodies which could be seen pinned beneath the rubble. Other reports said there were three or more buried.

At least 99 persons were treated for injuries. Henry Bird, civil defense director for the area, said five store employes were unaccounted for.

"Everyone was screaming, everyone saying be quiet," said Mrs. J. A. Anderson of Windsor, one of about 150 customers and clerks who were in the Metropolitan Stores Ltd. building.

Mrs. Anderson said the mid-afternoon explosion "just shook the place, and all the lights went off all of a sudden." She said, "There was a big swish as the air came back into the store, or something."

Store manager Joseph Halford, 31, said he was in the subbasement with Charles Ingram, a plumber, and Howard Schram, an electrician, when the blast occurred. The store's heating plant was being converted to gas.

Both Ingram and Schram were injured, but survived.

"We decided to open the main (gas) line from the street," Halford said, "and all we got was air. All of a sudden the gas came through. I turned to leave the basement when it exploded."

Halford suffered burns on the face and hands and was reported in fair condition at a Windsor hospital.

Newark's Renovation Told At City Chamber's Dinner

The story of how 157-year-old Newark is modernizing its central business area — overcoming many of the problems it has in common with East Liverpool—was related to 155 by two Chamber of Commerce executives at the fall dinner of the local Chamber Tuesday night at the Country Club.

C. Allen Milliken, manager of the Newark Area Chamber, and Frank R. Logan, manager of the Retail Merchants Council, explained the steps that have been taken since April 1, when a 5-year community development program was launched.

TO AVOID taking a back seat to metropolitan areas and suburban shopping centers, Newark is concentrating on:

Traffic control, after learning that many shoppers avoided the business area because of congestion.

Parking, with development of off-street facilities both by the city and a private corporation financed mainly by business and professional men.

Beautification of the shopping area that began with planting of 75 trees at downtown curbs, plus flowers planted in huge "tubs" along the sidewalks.

Promotion of the downtown area, coupled with increased night shopping hours and improved public transportation service.

Modernization of business buildings, including many that have been remodeled inside and out or rebuilt completely.

"EVERY community has these problems and they won't go away because they're covered with 'vanishing cream'," Milliken told the crowd. "Our program is the result of 18 months of comprehensive study. It involves many objectives, all aimed at improving the business climate and the future of the city."

Then Milliken cited the importance of any community's downtown business area as it affects the merchant, the property-owner and the general public.

Although a business district generally represents only 3 to 4 per cent of a city's area, it usually pays 20 to 25 per cent of the real estate taxes, he said.

And the downtown area generally employs more persons than a community's largest industry, he asserted. For instance, downtown Newark accounts for the employment of 4,000 persons while the city's largest industry has 2,200 on its payroll, he said.

Downtown is important to industrial development, he added.

"An industrial prospect looks for a good, live business district," Milliken said. "It reflects the civic attitude of the town."

DOWNTOWN is important to the general public as the hub of the community from the standpoint of civic, cultural and business life," he added.

Founded in 1803, Newark has a population of about 40,000, Logan told the group. Its business district centers on four sides of a typical Public Square. Although the streets and sidewalks are wide for an old city, many of the buildings are 100 or more years old, he added.

When the Chamber started its Newark study, it found "a definite trend away from the downtown,"

Freeway Bid Opening Set For Nov. 22

The State Highway Department will open bids at Columbus Tuesday, Nov. 22, at 10 a. m. on construction of the California Hollow-West End Freeway, Director Everett S. Preston announced today.

Overall cost of the project is expected to top $5.5 million, including more than $3.5 million for construction and approximately $2 million for right-of-way. All-out construction work probably will not get under way until next spring.

Preston said the official call for contractors' bids will be issued in legal notices Monday. Would - be bidders may obtain copies of the plans and specifications at the Highway Department's office in Columbus or from William McKenna, head of Division 11, at his office in New Philadelphia, Preston said.

Planning for the freeway dates back to November 1955. It will begin at the city limits in California Hollow, entering West End approximately along the course of Carpenters Run. The roadway will cross the four-lane "super-road" in West End on elevated structures, loop around the City Hospital site, pass underneath the Ohio end of the Newell Bridge and end at W. 3rd and Monroe Sts. It's the first phase of a four-lane road that eventually will be extended east and west through the city to the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line.

Campaign Gathers Speed

Nixon Pushes Ohio Drive; Kennedy Raps President

Senator Declares Ike Secretive On Records

EN ROUTE WITH KENNEDY (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy charged today the Eisenhower administration is "afriad to tell the people the truth" and has repeatedly slapped the secrecy snap on records for political purposes.

The Democratic presidential candidate, heading for a day's campaigning in Michigan, broadened the issue he kept pounding on Tuesday in a marathon assault on largely Republican Chicago suburbs.

His complaint then was that, in order to help Vice President Richard M. Nixon make good his campaign contention that U.S. prestige is at an all-time high, the administration had hidden away a government-financed survey.

This report, he said, showed that the people in 10 friendly countries believe the Soviet Union is ahead of this country militarily and will maintain or increase its lead.

Kennedy said today, in a speech prepared for delivery in Mount Clemens, Mich., that the Defense and State Departments, the International Cooperation Administration, which administers foreign aid "and many other executive agencies have repeatedly refused the public free access to public information."

A congressional committee was blocked from finding out why high bids were accepted and low bids rejected on some government contracts, Kennedy charged, and information sought about the administration of economic and technical aid in India, Laos, Pakistan and Bolivia was refused.

"This administration does not trust the people," Kennedy said. "It has kept the unpleasant truth from them in order to convince them that, as Mr. Nixon says, they never had it so good.

"In recent years the administration has classified (declared secret) three times as many documents as were classified in the entire previous history of American government."

Kennedy turned to the United States Information Agency survey of public opinion abroad, some of which was made public in newspaper stories Tuesday.

"It is bad enough to supress the truth about procurement contracts or foreign aid expenditures to conceal waste or inefficiency or worse. It is far more dangerous to hide the truth about our position abroad—and hide it for political purposes," he said.

He renewed his demand that Nixon make the full report available. He said Nixon had asserted during their last television debate that "the facts simply are not as stated" and that the report in question was many months old. Actually, Kennedy said, the study was made only a few weeks ago. He said Nixon should explain why "a public report, paid for with public funds and containing information important to the public, was not made public until its concealment was exposed."

U.N. Debate On Invasion Charge Seen

Castro's Claim U.S. Plots Against Cuba Due For Committee

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Fidel Castro's charge that the United States is preparing an invasion of Cuba appeared destined today for debate after long delay in the U. N. Political Committee instead of immediate discussion in the General Assembly.

Demanding urgent consideration for the invasion charge, Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa also accused the United States Tuesday of planning a "manufactured provocation" at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, to influence the U.S. presidential election.

Despite Soviet backing for Roa, the assembly steering committee voted 12-3 with 5 abstentions to send the complaint to the 99-nation political committee, where the United States said it rightfully belonged.

The political committee already is bogged down with a heavy work schedule, and the Cuban charges appeared fated to wind up near the bottom of its agenda.

Cuba had served notice that if the steering committee rejected her demand for immediate assembly debate on the complaint, it would try to get the assembly to overturn the committee recommendation. Diplomats gave the Cubans little chance of success.

The United States branded the Cuban charges a "monstrous fabrication" and warned the steering group against being stampeded into hasty action. It made clear, however, that it welcomed a full U. N. airing of Cuba's charges.

The Cuban foreign minister accused Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon of trying to make Cuba the scapegoat of the election campaign. In an emotional outburst, he declared the Cuban government had abundant proof a large-scale attack on Cuban territory "is about to break out."

Pounds At Theme He Can 'Deal' With Mr. K

WITH NIXON IN OHIO (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon pounded away at the theme today that he is equipped to deal with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and his opponent is too "inconsistent" to do so.

The Republican presidential nominee campaigned furiously across Ohio in search of electoral votes that might help him make up for the possible loss of New York in the Nov. 8 balloting.

Striking at his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, Nixon told a train-side crowd in the rain at the steel town of Middletown that his opponent jumps from position to position on international affairs.

Police estimated the crowd at 10,000 persons, which seemed far in excess of the actual turnout. But local newsmen said it was larger than the crowd which previously assembled to hear Kennedy.

In contrast to his rival, Nixon pictured himself as an experienced negotiator who knows how to deal with Khrushchev.

"You have seen the television pictures of Mr. Khrushchev shaking his fist at me," Nixon declared. "The way to deal with him is just to be as firm for the right as he is for the wrong."

As Nixon spoke, some members of the crowd — which included many school children — waved signs which read: "One Mr. K is enough—Win with Nixon."

Nixon told an umbrella-bearing crowd which filled the square in front of the Dayton courthouse, he believes his record as a member of the Eisenhower administration qualifies him for the nation's highest office.

The Dayton crowd was estimated at 20,000, about the same as Kennedy drew at last week's appearance in the same city, and from the same platform.

With the aid of President Eisenhower, Nixon will shoot the political works in New York next Wednesday.

Then he will be joined by Eisenhower, vice-presidential nominee Henry Cabot Lodge and GOP Sens. Jacob M. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating in what the Republicans hope will be New York City's biggest ticker-tape reception. Nixon will star that night in a television appearance.

If all this fails to turn the tide that Nixon strategists admit privately is against them in the Empire State, they will try to duplicate Harry Truman's 1948 stunt of winning without New York's 45 electoral votes.

Nixon's associates believe they must take Ohio and its 25 electoral votes, California and Pennsylvania with their 32 each, Illinois with 27, Indiana with 13 and possibly Minnesota with 11.

In this second line of effort to gain the winning margin of 269 electoral votes, Nixon's forces look on Ohio as one of the key areas they must carry.

Living Costs Hit New High In September

Government Reports Two-Tenths Of 1% Hike During Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose two-tenths of 1 per cent in September to a record high.

The Labor Department's living cost index went to 126.8 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. This is 1.3 per cent higher than a year earlier.

Practically every group of major consumer costs increased except for costs of new and used automobiles. Auto prices were down due to additional dealer discounts.

Higher prices for housing and seasonal clothing cost increases exerted the most significant upward pressures between August and September.

The living cost increase will bring a pay increase for about 100,000 workers, chiefly in aircraft plants and other metalworking industries.

The increase will be one cent an hour in most cases but about 5,000 workers are due for 2-to-3 cents-per-hour raises.

The pay boosts result from adjustments required by labor contracts geared to the government index.

Robert Myers, deputy labor statistics commissioner, said a further living cost increase has been indicated in October. Figures for October will became available next month.

He said he anticipates higher costs for clothing, food and transportation, the latter because of seasonally higher prices for new model automobiles.

Dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital was William Burns, 53, of Lowellville, who suffered a fractured skull. Injured were Edward Jednak, 40, of Columbus, and Richard J. Burns, 62, of Lowellville.

Appeal Slated In Integration Leader's Case

Dr. King Given 4 Months In Labor Camp For 'Sit-Ins'

DECATUR, Ga. (AP)—Defense attorneys sought today a speedy appeal for an integration leader sentenced to four months in a public works camp after recent sit-in demonstrations.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., one of 79 arrested during the sit-ins, was ordered by Judge Oscar Mitchell of the Dekalb County Criminal Court to serve four months of a probated sentence for driving without a Georgia driver's license.

The judge denied numerous defense motions to dismiss the proceedings to revoke probation and denied King bail pending an appeal.

The minister, who led the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott, moved to Atlanta last February. He entered a plea of guilty to driving without a Georgia license last September and was given a 12-month probated sentence.

Georgia sells 1- and 5-year driver's licenses which expire on April 1. King said at the time of his arrest he had a valid Alabama license.

While the other sit-in demonstrators were released on bond, King was held at the request of Dekalb County officials for violating the state antitrespass law while on probation. The law under which King and the others were charged makes it a misdemeanor to fail to leave private premises when requested to do so.

King's counsel argued the probated sentence was invalid since the law sets a limit of six months on such sentences. They also claimed the antitresspass law is unconstitutional.

Auto Hit Broadside But 2 Passengers, Trucker Are Unhurt

A 21-year-old Wellsville driver and a Wellsville girl, 16, were injured in a collision between their car and a tractor-trailer on Route 39 about 2 miles west of Wellsville Tuesday night at 11:15.

Two other young people and the truck driver escaped injury in the crash which occurred at the intersection with the Oak Grove Church Rd. when the rig rammed the side of the car.

In "fairly good" condition at City Hospital are Earl Leroy Thomas of 414 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, the driver, who suffered multiple cuts of the scalp and left ear and bruises of the elbow and leg, and Darlene Berkheimer, 18, of 18th St. Heights who received bruises of the forehead, pelvis and right knee.

She resides with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Byers, He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Thomas.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon, still investigating the crash, said Thomas apparently made a left turn just as the truck, driven by Ralph McCutchan, 26, of Follansbee, was passing.

The rig hit the car broadside, slamming it some 200 feet down the highway, according to witnesses who said the cab of the truck was on top of the 1949 coach, which was on its side.

Wellsville firemen were called to the site when witnesses mistook steam from hot water in a broken radiator for smoke, and telephoned an alarm. The impact and dragging ripped off the fenders and hood of the auto, witnesses reported.

Wanda Eastham, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Eastham of 18th St. Heights, Wellsville, suffered a leg bruise but was not treated at the hospital. A fourth passenger was identified by the patrol as Buddy Zellers of Wellsville, who also escaped serious injury.

The patrol investigation was hampered by fog last night, and

She resides with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Byers. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Thomas.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon, still investigating the crash, said Thomas apparently made a left turn just as the truck, driven by Ralph McCutchan, 26, of Fallsinbee, was passing.

The rig hit the car broadside, slamming it some 200 feet down the highway, according to witnesses who said the cab of the truck was on top of the 1949 coach, which was on its side.

Wellsville firemen were called to the site when witnesses mistook steam from hot water in a broken radiator for smoke, and telephoned an alarm. The impact and dragging ripped off the fenders and hood of the auto, witnesses reported.

Wanda Eastham, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Eastham of 18th St. Heights, Wellsville, suffered a leg bruise but was not treated at the hospital. A fourth passenger was identified by the patrol as Buddy Zellers of Wellsville, who also escaped serious injury.

The patrol investigation was hampered by fog last night, and

Newark's Renovation Told At City Chamber's Dinner

The story of how 157-year-old Newark is modernizing its central business area — overcoming many of the problems it has in common with East Liverpool—was related to 165 by two Chamber of Commerce executives at the fall dinner of the local Chamber Tuesday night at the Country Club.

C. Allen Milliken, manager of the Newark Area Chamber, and Frank B. Logan, manager of the Retail Merchants Council, explained the steps that have been taken since April 1, when a 5-year community development program was launched.

TO AVOID taking a back seat to metropolitan areas and suburban shopping centers, Newark is concentrating on:

Traffic control, after learning that many shoppers avoided the business area because of congestion.

Parking, with development of off-street facilities both by the city and a private corporation financed mainly by business and professional men.

Beautification of the shopping area that began with planting of 75 trees at downtown curbs, plus flowers planted in huge "tubs" along the sidewalks.

Promotion of the downtown area, coupled with increased night shopping hours and improved public transportation service.

Modernization of business buildings, including many that have been remodeled inside and out or rebuilt completely.

"EVERY community has these problems and they won't go away because they're covered with 'vanishing cream'," Milliken told the crowd. "Our program is the result of 18 months of comprehensive study. It involves many objectives, all aimed at improving the business climate and the future of the city."

Then Milliken cited the importance of any community's downtown business area as it affects the merchant, the property-owner and the general public.

Although a business district generally represents only 3 to 4 per cent of a city's area, it usually pays 20 to 25 per cent of the real estate taxes, he said.

And the downtown area generally employs more persons than a community's largest industry, he asserted. For instance, downtown Newark accounts for the employment of 4,000 persons while the city's largest industry has 2,200 on its payroll, he said.

Downtown is important to industrial development, he added.

"An industrial prospect looks for a good, live business district," Milliken said. "It reflects the civic attitude of the town."

DOWNTOWN is important to the general public as the hub of the community from the standpoint of civic, cultural and business life," he added.

Founded in 1801, Newark has a population of about 40,000, Logan told the group. Its business district centers on four sides of a typical Public Square. Although the streets and sidewalks are wide for an old city, many of the buildings are 100 or more years old, he added.

When the Chamber started its Newark study, it found "a definite trend away from the downtown,"

Freeway Bid Opening Set For Nov. 22

The State Highway Department will open bids at Columbus Tuesday, Nov. 22, at 10 a. m. on construction of the California Hollow-West End Freeway, Director Everett S. Preston announced today.

Overall cost of the project is expected to top $5.5 million, including more than $3.5 million for construction and approximately $2 million for right-of-way. All-out construction work probably will not get under way until next spring.

Preston said the official call for contractors' bids will be issued in legal notices Monday. Would - be bidders may obtain copies of the plans and specifications at the Highway Department's office in Columbus or from William McKenna, head of Division 11, at his office in New Philadelphia, Preston said.

Planning for the freeway dates back to November 1955. It will begin at the city limits in California Hollow, entering West End approximately along the course of Carpenters Run. The roadway will cross the four-lane "super-road" in West End on elevated structures, loop around the City Hospital site, pass underneath the Ohio end of the Newell Bridge and end at W. 3rd and Monroe Sts. It's the first phase of a four-lane road that eventually will be extended east and west through the city to the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line.

Blair To Be Candidate

County Schools To Close For Teachers' Conference

Asst. Supt. Paul H. Blair will be one of two candidates for president of the East Central Ohio Teachers Association at the second annual convention Friday in Canton.

All schools in Columbiana County, along with those in Carroll, Holmes, Stark, Tuscarawas and Wayne Counties, will be closed to allow teachers to attend. Some 4,000 are expected.

The official business meeting will be held at 2:30 p. m. at the Belden Hotel with Charles G. Andrews, retiring president, presiding.

Blair and J. William Rieker, a New Philadelphia High School teacher, are the candidates for president. E. R. Malone, superintendent of North Canton schools and incumbent, and David Knight, principal of Orrville Junior High, are the nominees for vice president.

VA At Weirton Seeks Name Of Hero For Armory

WEIRTON — What Army hero to name a new Reserve Center after is a problem confronting the Veterans Service Office, Edward Hartman, chairman of the dedication committee, said.

Completion of the center is scheduled early in 1961 and the committee is checking records of local deceased Army heroes for whom the facility will be named.

"We plan to name our center in honor of a local deceased hero, who was a member of the Army, and who served in a war in which the U. S. was engaged," Hartman said.

"The individual selected must have performed an act of heroism or held a position of high responsibility. Last, but certainly not least, he must have been a respected member of the community," Hartman added.

"Widest possible dissemination of information relating to our plans for honoring an individual will be made together with information of the center and the reserve program."

Hartman said nominations for consideration are to be submitted to Dedication Committee, Weirton U. S. Army Reserve Center, Weirton, W. Va. The closing date for accepting nominations is Nov. 30.

He said the committee expects to reach a decision on the name of the facility by Dec. 30 after careful consideration of all nominations.

Brown Declares Johnson Playing 'A Sure Game'

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—"Senator (Lyndon B.) Johnson is playing what he believes to be a sure game," says Ohio's former interim governor John W. Brown.

Johnson, Democratic nominee for the vice presidency, is permitted under Texas law to run for both the Senate and the vice presidency in the Nov. 8 election.

Speaking to a Republican rally here Tuesday, State Rep. Brown said that Johnson would rather remain U.S. senator from Texas and Senate majority leader than be elected vice president.

If Johnson was sure his running mate, Sen. John F. Kennedy, could be elected, the Medina Republican noted, Johnson would give up his candidacy also for re-election to the Senate from Texas.

Kennedy and Johnson are as far apart in most instances, as the states of Texas and Massachusetts, said Brown. America and the free world need a combination of Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican choice, to offer the security of peace, a sound fiscal policy and proper leadership, he added.

Brown, former lieutenant governor, was Ohio's chief executive for 11 days in January 1957.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make a good, puffy souffle?

A. Use ¼-teaspoon of cream of tartar. Add it to the beaten egg whites of any standard souffle recipe and bake in the usual slow oven (300 degrees). The souffle will retain its airy poise throughout the meal.

Q. How can I take away that faded and worn appearance at the seams of a carpet?

A. Try using paint or soft crayons of the same shades as in the rug and touching up the worn places with these.

Next Best To Ike Himself

Here is the most significant fact of the 1960 presidential election:

Dwight Eisenhower could have run for a third term and won without any effort.

He is still the most popular political figure on the American scene.

Eight years of relentless criticism by his political opponents have not whittled him down to the size of any of the other contemporary figures on the national political scene.

Two terms, lacking a few months, of trial and error in a chaotic period have revealed to his countrymen everything that can be found out about a man who must live in a goldfish bowl of publicity. Everybody knows he likes to play golf; that he likes to play bridge; that he can be short-tempered; that his staff-work theory of running the White House didn't work out as well as he hoped it would; that he is chief of his party and cannot delegate the job.

Everybody knows about the trouble he has had with extremists inside the Republican party. Everybody knows he is past 70 years old and doesn't want to be president any more— that he did not particularly want to run for a second term in 1956.

Yet, it is the consensus of partisan politicians, neutral observers and professional question-askers that Dwight Eisenhower could have been elected to a third term if he had not been the first president to be barred from a third term by the 22nd amendment to the Constitution.

THIS COULD HAVE been said about Franklin D. Roosevelt. It could have been said about George Washington. But it could not have been said about Harry Truman after less than two terms. Herbert Hoover could not win election to a second term.

Chief executives who have not worn out their political welcomes have been exceptions. Dwight Eisenhower is one of the rarest of the exceptions.

Next best to President Eisenhower, himself, under the circumstances is Richard Nixon, whom he groomed from the beginning of his administration to take over in an emergency. Vice President Nixon is committed both by personal preference and political necessity to continue the general policies of the Eisenhower administration.

Although Nixon has not indicated that he might do so, it is possible that a Nixon cabinet would carry over some of the members of the Eisenhower cabinet, like Treasury Secretary Anderson and Postmaster General Summerfield.

There would be a continuity of administration and a continuity of policy. The frenzied speculation about monetary policy that is draining gold reserves and depressing market prices would stop.

In foreign policy, Mr. Nixon would have the benefit of his predecessor's counsel and his worldwide acquaintanceship.

THIS RELATIONSHIP between the outgoing president and a vice president who had been given extraordinary responsibility was not foreseen when the 22nd amendment to the Constitution was framed. Perhaps it will not materialize again.

The relationship between President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon has been uniquely close and confidential. It is as though President Eisenhower had looked ahead to a situation in which continuity of administration and policy would be especially desirable.

Next best to Ike in person would be the man he groomed to take over if he died or became incapacitated—the man who would have been president of the United States at this moment if that one heart-beat which separates the vice president from the president had failed.

His Father Would Be Proud, Too

Occasionally a son becomes famous in the footsteps of a famous father.

Usually it is the other way around—a famous man comes from a relatively humble parentage or is followed by less attention-compelling children.

An outstanding example of the first situation is Colin P. Kelly II—West Point cadet. His is the culmination of a story that captured the hearts of all Americans in the perilous early days of United States participation in World War II.

Just three days after the Japanese sneak attack had left Pearl Harbor a shambles on Dec. 7, 1941, the first of many great heroes of the war emerged. He was Capt. Colin P. Kelly Jr. of the Army Air Corps.

FLYING A B-17 bomber, Capt. Kelly's crew sank an enemy heavy cruiser and took mortal hits en route back to its Philippines base. One of the eight crewmen was killed by a bullet. Capt. Kelly ordered the others to parachute to safety and he rode his crippled plane down to his death.

The young flier was awarded the Medal of honor, this nation's greatest, and President Roosevelt wrote a letter to "the President of the United States in 1956" recommending that young Colin P. III, then only 16 months old, be considered for appointment to West Point where his heroic father had been graduated.

In 1956 another World War II hero—Dwight D. Eisenhower—was president, and he did not forget that 1941 recommendation of a predecessor in the White House.

COLIN III, the time he was nearing completion of high school, might have had a different idea about the career he wanted. But he didn't. He wanted to go to West Point.

He was so intent on being a good cadet, however, that he refused the presidential appointment that was offered him. He competed, instead, in the stiff entrance exams that every other candidate must take. He made it the hard way.

"I wanted to prove I could do it on my own," he said. "If I wasn't qualified, I didn't think it would be right to take a place from somebody who was."

Americans, proud of the heroic Capt. Kelly, are now just as proud of his son.

The Real Story On Steel Capacity

In its Oct. 22 issue, Business Week magazine presents a factual, readable analysis of the current situation in the United States steel industry. Without referring to the presidential campaign, the article points up a basic fallacy in Sen. John F. Kennedy's use of the fact that the industry is operating at 52 per cent of capacity.

The Democratic nominee cites this as the major problem of the steel industry and contends that it proves his charge that the American economy is languishing in the doldrums.

His interpretation is wrong on both counts.

THE REASON the steel industry is operating at 52 per cent of capacity is that its capacity has increased 50 per cent in the last decade through increased efficiency and new plant construction.

Only a few years back it could not keep ahead of its orders even at full-capacity operation. Now it can use slightly more than half of its capacity and still produce as much steel as it did a decade ago. Production this year will hit 100 million tons of ingots, 30 million more tons than the Soviet Union will produce at presumably full capacity and 30 million more tons than Britain, France and West Germany combined.

This means that the steel industry has a capacity reserve that can be relied on both for future economic expansion and for any military emergency in which the ability to produce steel could mean the difference between victory and disaster.

This does not mean the steel industry is without problems. It has several major ones with which, Business Week says, it must come to grips in the next two years. They include foreign competition, competition from other materials, reduction in demand from some traditional markets because of improved technology in steel-using industries and a price squeeze that interacts with all these factors.

But, Business Week explains, the tremendous reserve capacity of the American steel industry, rather than being in itself the major problem, offers the best hope for solving the real problems. Over the long term, the steel industry and the economy in general stand only to benefit from the increase in production capacity.

NEVERTHELESS, the 52-per-cent-of-capacity operation produces one effect which no one contends is desirable — unemployment. Both the industry and the economy in general have a stake in keeping it to a minimum. And it is undoubtedly unemployment that Sen. Kennedy has in mind when he emphasizes the half-capacity operation of the steel industry in his campaign efforts to garner votes.

But the fallacy in the senator's approach is that he misses the boat on what the real problems in the steel industry are, and the role the greatly expanded production potential of the industry can play in solving them.

This means that he very well could miss the boat as well on interpreting what role, if any, the government should play in tapping the present reserve capacity and thereby getting at the problem everybody wants solved — unemployment.

Police Aide Eyes Chicago Mob

By Victor Riesel

CHICAGO

Virtue may be its own reward but the other fellows seem to be doing pretty well, too, these days. This bothered an honest police official attached to a new special rackets unit in Chicago.

Victor Riesel

He looked hard out of my hotel window over Lake Michigan as though he'd love to toss in a few hoods to join those long since anchored at the bottom by the mob.

He asked if it were true that the teamsters still were paying Dave Beck a $1,000 a week pension and if the operating engineers were tossing a grand a week at the ousted president, William Maloney, despite the loot they carted from those unions. I said yes.

He flipped a report in front of me. This, he said, says much of the racketeering in labor unions has disappeared in the first year of the Landrum - Griffin Act.

THE MAN QUOTED is none other than a high U. S. Labor Department official, John L. Holcombe, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor-Management Reports.

There was more to Commissioner Holcombe's statement but the message was clear. The commissioner, a fine man indeed, came straightaway from the Pentagon to the Labor Department to organize and direct the new enforcement division of the Labor - Management Reporting and Disclosure Act, among other things.

He appears to believe there's not much of an invading hoodlum army left inside labor.

I mean him no injustice. He has spent much time in the creation and organization of the Defense Department and he is new to all this way down brush fire stuff. But he was here when he made the statement and it's rather a pity he didn't take a taxi ride, for example, over to 1640 Van Buren St.

There he would have found the headquarters of Local 46, Laundry, Cleaning and Dye House Workers International Union (independent), from which was once stolen some $900,000 in pension and welfare funds.

In the sanctum, Commissioner Holcombe might have found the local's leader, business agent Gus Zapas. He's a friend of the fellow who stole all that money.

THE EMBEZZLER and former union leader is Eugene James. James will have to be absent on account of several commitments the courts made for him with some prisons.

I write of Gus Zapas because his is typical of a network of men — who were meeting in Chicago just about the time Commissioner Holcombe was there.

It is a disdainful band which still conspires to take over the labor movement from such men as George Meany.

Fifty could be listed. But Zapas will do. He is a career man — a sort of account executive, a trouble shooter for the operation.

He has served time for robbery. He has a "sheet" (record) of 47 arrests. How did he advance himself to a job paying more than $10,000 yearly, plus expenses, of course?

That's what the Senate committee wanted to know. Bob Kennedy once asked him what he did just prior to getting into the labor movement.

ZAPAS SAID, "Nothing." And for the year before that? "Nothing."

"I attempted at times," said Zapas, "to tend bar at various establishments . . . but being harassed by the Chicago Police Dept., coming in and questioning at various hours of the day, the employers would not hold me and I never could hold a job."

So he got a bid to go to Indianapolis to work for the teamsters. Soon he doubled as a secretary - treasurer for a hotel and restaurant workers local. In his spare time, he organized for the laundry workers. Sort of piece work.

He was paid for turning members over to the local. He managed, too, to become president of a taxi company, the owner of which simply disappeared.

As head of Indianapolis Local 58, bartenders, he led a 19-month strike against a hotel there.

Of course, there is no evidence linking Zapas with violence during the stoppage. The record will simply show that there were some fires and enthusiastic dynamiting. Oh well, lots of incidents go unsolved.

When the vacancy occurred in Chicago Local 46, Zapas wanted to improve himself. So he took the job. And there he is, commissioner. There are lots of them in lots of cities.

An International Boo-Boo

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Each of the presidential candidates has pulled an international boo-boo. Vice President Richard M. Nixon on Quemoy and Matsu; and Sen. John F. Kennedy on Cuba.

Nixon favored getting more deeply involved in the offshore islands than President Eisenhower was ever willing to permit and more than this country might go for in a showdown.

Kennedy's ideas—or some of them—on coping with Cuba's Fidel Castro would violate a treaty this country has with 20 other American republics by getting mixed up in Cuba's internal affairs.

If the candidates' dispute on these subjects proves anything, it's this:

1. That they've spent far more time discussing Cuba and Quemoy and Matsu than those islands are worth in comparison with all the other problems which presidential candidates could be discussing at this moment.

2. The danger of presidential candidates—since one of the two would be confronted with his own words if he became president—of talking too fast on delicate subjects.

Nixon, who thought he had Kennedy at a disadvantage on Quemoy and Matsu, insisted the senator discuss them. Now, apparently thinking he has his opponent at more of a disadvantage on Cuba, Nixon is insisting he discuss that.

This country has a treaty with Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists pledging defense against any Red Chinese attack on Formosa and the nearby Pescadores Islands about 100 miles from the China mainland.

But this country has no obligation to defend Quemoy and Matsu, two tiny islands also occupied by Chiang's forces but lying only a couple of miles off the mainland.

Eisenhower has always left it up in the air whether they would be defended. The administration has taken the position they would be defended if our military leaders thought they were necessary to the defense of Formosa or considered an attack on them part of an attack on Formosa.

This left the Red Chinese guessing what to expect. But Nixon went further. He said he'd oppose any forced withdrawal from Quemoy and Matsu on principle because they were part of free territory.

Nixon's position on principle could commit the United States to defend Quemoy and Matsu—and maybe get into war with Red China—whether or not they were considered necessary to Formosa's defense.

Nixon soon stopped talking principle and adopted the Eisenhower position. Kennedy had said that, while he wouldn't give up Quemoy and Matsu at the point of a gun, he'd try to persuade Chiang to give them up.

His reason was to avoid getting into war some day with Red China over tiny islands which he said are unimportant and not necessary to Formosa's defense.

Kennedy seemed to think he had Nixon over a barrel on the subject of Cuba where, during the Eisenhower administration, anti-American and pro-Soviet Castro took over.

Kennedy banged away on this subject until Oct. 20 when he issued a detailed statement, blaming Castro's rise to power on the administration of which Nixon is a part, and explaining how he'd knock Castro out of the picture.

He said this country, among other things, should attempt to strengthen the anti-Castro forces both outside and inside Cuba. But this would be interference in Cuba's internal affairs—a thing Kennedy said later he did not advocate.

Clergy's Prerogative

By David Lawrence

Church Leaders Have Freedom Of Speech

The three Catholic bishops of Puerto Rico who advised their constituents to vote against Gov. Munoz Marin have stirred up a controversy as to the influence of the church in politics. What these three prelates have done is really not new. Advice to voters is given constantly by clergymen of all faiths.

David Lawrence

When a public policy or action arises that directly concerns moral issues, churchmen generally feel that they have a right to speak out and tell their parishioners what they think.

In the case of the governor of Puerto Rico, the Catholic bishops feel he has not been right in encouraging birth control. In fact, for years they have insisted that his policies have been promoting abortion and tolerating common-law marriages.

Now, when a new law authorizes the teaching of birth control and allows sterilization, it is natural that the churchmen who differ with that public policy should be expressing themselves and telling their parishioners that they ought not to vote for any officials who support such legislation.

The governor, moreover, has refused to let 500,000 public school children take time off for religious observance, which several states permit. The Supreme Court of the United States has upheld the "released time" system.

Cardinal Spellman has declared that it is wrong to draw the inference that any Catholic would be committing a sin if he or she disregarded the advice of the Puerto Rican archbishops.

He endorsed a statement by a Boston ecclesiastical authority who said that it was not something which would have to be reported in any confessional and hence there was no pennance or penalty involved, and that the question was "a matter between a Catholic and his conscience."

This is similar to the position taken by Protestant clergymen—namely, that they have a right to advise their constituents on political matters, especially when moral issues are concerned.

Certainly there is precedent for this in many states of the United States where clergymen have publicly favored or opposed legislation directly related to the churches either with respect to tax exemptions of property or the system of releasing children from school in the afternoon to go to religious services.

Not long ago the Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., made a very important speech before the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School on the subject of the church in politics. He said:

"What happens each Sunday in the tens of thousands of pulpits in this land is more important than the pronouncements made occasionally by synods, conferences, or assemblies of our denominations or church councils. . .

"But I can say that the procedures by which the churches and the National Council attempt to get competent advice and advisers—whether on a farm problem, or on international affairs, or housing, or public education, on race relations or religious liberty —are procedures which anyone fair-minded among us might approve."

Dr. Blake went on to blast the critics of the National Council and added that "other denominations are facing attempts within official organizations to make it appear that the corporate church is incompetent to take moral positions in real issues in our social and international life."

In recent years many pronouncements have come from churchmen of all faiths on various issues that today are being debated in the presidential campaign.

Thus, a group of Protestant churchmen a few months ago brought out a report advocating the admission of Red China to the United Nations.

Other church groups have expressed themselves on different phases of domestic as well as international policy.

The only real dilemma arises when it is asserted that a citizen may be punished or penalized for choosing to differ on political matters from the viewpoint of his pastor or any group of clergymen in his church.

The Catholic authorities, for instance, say that the purpose of the Puerto Rican pastoral letter was merely to express an opinion, which was offered to the citizens for their consideration.

The prestige, of course, of any clergyman who possesses the confidence of the community can be said to influence the voters—and there are plenty of pamphlets and documents quoting eminent clergymen of all faiths on the question of separation of church and state.

Unless these contain some coercive or improper language, they are bound to be considered within the right of any organization to express itself and to endeavor to persuade others to adopt the views held by such an organization or association. Free speech covers religious controversies, too.

No Spik Inglish

By Truman Twill

The academic subject closest to my heart is English. That's why my glasses steamed over when I read that the College Entrance Examination Board will start a nationwide effort to upgrade the teaching of English and correct the inability of incoming college students to express themselves.

English—not grammar. They're not the same thing. Unfortunately, most kids are turned against English by grammar teachers, who made the subject so dull it kills all interest in it. If we ever get things right side up in the teaching of English, no grammar will be taught at all, except to advanced students.

Most professional writers of English know no more about grammar than they know about thermodynamics. All they know about is usage. They have concentrated on the bright art of communicating, not the black art of rationalizing the construction of their sentences.

This is one of the screwball oddities of education—this misplaced emphasis on grammar. You can teach a child to speak French fluently in the first few grades of school by encouraging it to imitate the sounds of that language as spoken by a French-speaking adult—no grammar, just the sound of the language.

You could teach a child to speak English fluently, if an English-speaking adult set the example. But no; the child is set to studying grammar, instead, and do nothing for the next few years but watch the English language being dissected know practically nothing about it.

If it weren't for radio, television and the occasional in-the-flesh adult who can make English sound like something, the spoken language would go by the board. That is precisely what has happened to the written language.

Except for a few pupils who learn to imitate writers, the way they imitate speakers, written English has gone by the board. This is why the College Entrance Examination Board plans to do something drastic. It is starting a generation late, but perhaps by 2000 A.D. its efforts will pay off.

Letter To The Editor

Ernest Whitacre, Columbiana County Republican chairman who spoke to his friends at City Hall recently, "stole the livery of the court of Heaven to serve the devil in" it would seem, when he deplored the influx of foreign-made goods which has crippled American industry and retarded the welfare of American workers and their families, and at the same time he predicted an abnormal Republican victory in November.

That is sort of a paradox, as viewed by this writer.

Does Mr. Whitacre know that when the President made his trade compact with Japan our doors were thrown open to unlimited imports, manufactured by cheap labor whose wages and standards of living are far below those of workers in the United States?

Of concern to this area particularly is the pottery industry. Everybody knows that the potteries are fighting for their very existence because of abnormal imports from Japan and other foreign marts and we know, too, that no alleviation of the burden can be expected from the party in power.

"Get into some other business," was the edict of administration hirelings.

If Mr. Whitacre believes in the things he advocated in his speech last week, then he is not only in the wrong pew politically. He missed the church altogether.

Next Best To Ike Himself

Here is the most significant fact of the 1960 presidential election:

Dwight Eisenhower could have run for a third term and won without any effort.

He is still the most popular political figure on the American scene.

Eight years of relentless criticism by his political opponents have not whittled him down to the size of any of the other contemporary figures on the national political scene.

Two terms, lacking a few months, of trial and error in a chaotic period have revealed to his countrymen everything that can be found out about a man who must live in a goldfish bowl of publicity. Everybody knows he likes to play golf; that he likes to play bridge; that he can be short-tempered; that his staff-work theory of running the White House didn't work out as well as he hoped it would; that he is chief of his party and cannot delegate the job.

Everybody knows about the trouble he has had with extremists inside the Republican party. Everybody knows he is past 70 years old and doesn't want to be president any more— that he did not particularly want to run for a second term in 1956.

Yet, it is the consensus of partisan politicians, neutral observers and professional question-askers that Dwight Eisenhower could have been elected to a third term if he had not been the first president to be barred from a third term by the 22nd amendment to the Constitution.

THIS COULD HAVE been said about Franklin D. Roosevelt. It could have been said about George Washington. But it could not have been said about Harry Truman after less than two terms. Herbert Hoover could not win election to a second term.

Chief executives who have not worn out their political welcomes have been exceptions. Dwight Eisenhower is one of the rarest of the exceptions.

Next best to President Eisenhower, himself, under the circumstances is Richard Nixon, whom he groomed from the beginning of his administration to take over in an emergency. Vice President Nixon is committed both by personal preference and political necessity to continue the general policies of the Eisenhower administration.

Although Nixon has not indicated that he might do so, it is possible that a Nixon cabinet would carry over some of the members of the Eisenhower cabinet, like Treasury Secretary Anderson and Postmaster General Summerfield.

There would be a continuity of administration and a continuity of policy. The frenzied speculation about monetary policy that is draining gold reserves and depressing market prices would stop.

In foreign policy, Mr. Nixon would have the benefit of his predecessor's counsel and his worldwide acquaintanceship.

THIS RELATIONSHIP between the outgoing president and a vice president who had been given extraordinary responsibility was not foreseen when the 22nd amendment to the Constitution was framed. Perhaps it will not materialize again.

The relationship between President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon has been uniquely close and confidential. It is as though President Eisenhower had looked ahead to a situation in which continuity of administration and policy would be especially desirable.

Next best to Ike in person would be the man he groomed to take over if he died or became incapacitated—the man who would have been president of the United States at this moment if that one heart-beat which separates the vice president from the president had failed.

How ironic it is that so many of the same people who were thankful for a man so competent when death threatened Mr. Eisenhower should be talking now as if Richard Nixon had no right even to be running in the presidential race.

There he would have found the headquarters of Local 46, Laundry, Cleaning and Dye House Workers International Union (independent), from which was once stolen some $300,000 in pension and welfare funds.

In the sanctum, Commissioner Holcombe might have found the local's leader, business agent Gus Zapas. He's a friend of the fellow who stole all that money.

THE EMBEZZLER and former union leader is Eugene James. James will have to be absent on account of several commitments the courts made for him with some prisons.

I write of Gus Zapas because his is typical of a network of men — who were meeting in Chicago just about the time Commissioner Holcombe was there.

It is a disdainful hand which still conspires to take over the labor movement from such men as George Meany.

Fifty could be listed. But Zapas will do. He is a career man — a sort of account executive, a trouble shooter for the operation.

He has served time for robbery. He has a "sheet" (record) of 47 arrests. How did he advance himself to a job paying more than $10,000 yearly, plus expenses, of course?

That's what the Senate committee wanted to know. Bob Kennedy once asked him what he did just prior to getting into the labor movement.

ZAPAS SAID, "Nothing." And for the year before that? "Nothing."

"I attempted at times," said Zapas, "to tend bar at various establishments . . . but being harassed by the Chicago Police Dept., coming in and questioning at various hours of the day, the employers would not hold me and I never could hold a job."

So he got a bid to go to Indianapolis to work for the teamsters. Soon he doubled as a secretary - treasurer for a hotel and restaurant workers local. In his spare time, he organized for the laundry workers. Sort of piece work.

He was paid for turning members over to the local. He managed, too, to become president of a taxi company, the owner of which simply disappeared.

As head of Indianapolis Local 58, bartenders, he led a 19-month strike against a hotel there.

Of course, there is no evidence linking Zapas with violence during the stoppage. The record will simply show that there were some fires and enthusiastic dynamiting. Oh well, lots of incidents go unsolved.

When the vacancy occurred in Chicago Local 46, Zapas wanted to improve himself. So he took the job. And there he is, commissioner. There are lots of them in lots of cities.

An International Boo-Boo

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Each of the presidential candidates has pulled an international boo-boo. Vice President Richard M. Nixon on Quemoy and Matsu; and Sen. John F. Kennedy on Cuba.

Nixon favored getting more deeply involved in the offshore islands than President Eisenhower was ever willing to permit and more than this country might go for in a showdown.

Kennedy's ideas—or some of them—on coping with Cuba's Fidel Castro would violate a treaty this country has with 20 other American republics by getting mixed up in Cuba's internal affairs.

If the candidates' dispute on these subjects proves anything, it's this:

1. That they've spent far more time discussing Cuba and Quemoy and Matsu than those islands are worth in comparison with all the other problems which presidential candidates could be discussing at this moment.

2. The danger of presidential candidates—since one of the two would be confronted with his own words if he became president—of talking too fast on delicate subjects.

Nixon, who thought he had Kennedy at a disadvantage on Quemoy and Matsu, insisted the senator discuss them. Now, apparently thinking he has his opponent at more of a disadvantage on Cuba, Nixon is insisting he discuss that.

This country has a treaty with Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists pledging defense against any Red Chinese attack on Formosa and the nearby Pescadores Islands about 100 miles from the China mainland.

But this country has no obligation to defend Quemoy and Matsu, two tiny islands also occupied by Chiang's forces but lying only a couple of miles off the mainland.

Eisenhower has always left it up in the air whether they would be defended. The administration has taken the position they would be defended if our military leaders thought they were necessary to the defense of Formosa or considered an attack on them part of an attack on Formosa.

This left the Red Chinese guessing what to expect. But Nixon went further. He said he'd oppose any forced withdrawal from Quemoy and Matsu on principle because they were part of free territory.

Nixon's position on principle could commit the United States to defend Quemoy and Matsu—and maybe get into war with Red China—whether or not they were considered necessary to Formosa's defense.

Nixon soon stopped talking principle and adopted the Eisenhower position. Kennedy had said that, while he wouldn't give up Quemoy and Matsu at the point of a gun, he'd try to persuade Chiang to give them up.

His reason was to avoid getting into war some day with Red China over tiny islands which he said are unimportant and not necessary to Formosa's defense.

Kennedy seemed to think he had Nixon over a barrel on the subject of Cuba where, during the Eisenhower administration, anti-American and pro-Soviet Castro took over.

Kennedy banged away on this subject until Oct. 20 when he issued a detailed statement, blaming Castro's rise to power on the administration of which Nixon is a part, and explaining how he'd knock Castro out of the picture.

He said this country, among other things, should attempt to strengthen the anti-Castro forces both outside and inside Cuba. But this would be interference in Cuba's internal affairs—a thing Kennedy said later he did not advocate.

Clergy's Prerogative

By David Lawrence

Church Leaders Have Freedom Of Speech

The three Catholic bishops of Puerto Rico who advised their constituents to vote against Gov. Munoz Marin have stirred up a controversy as to the influence of the church in politics. What these three prelates have done is really not new. Advice to voters is given constantly by clergymen of all faiths.

David Lawrence

When a public policy or action arises that directly concerns moral issues, churchmen generally feel that they have a right to speak out and tell their parishioners what they think.

In the case of the governor of Puerto Rico, the Catholic bishops feel he has not been right in encouraging birth control. In fact, for years they have insisted that his policies have been promoting abortion and tolerating common-law marriages.

Now, when a new law authorizes the teaching of birth control and allows sterilization, it is natural that the churchmen who differ with that public policy should be expressing themselves and telling their parishioners that they ought not to vote for any officials who support such legislation.

The governor, moreover, has refused to let 500,000 public school children take time off for religious observance, which several states permit. The Supreme Court of the United States has upheld the "released time" system.

Cardinal Spellman has declared that it is wrong to draw the inference that any Catholic would be committing a sin if he or she disregarded the advice of the Puerto Rican archbishops.

He endorsed a statement by a Boston ecclesiastical authority who said that it was not something which would have to be reported in any confessional and hence there was no pennance or penalty involved, and that the question was "a matter between a Catholic and his conscience."

This is similar to the position taken by Protestant clergymen—namely, that they have a right to advise their constituents on political matters, especially when moral issues are concerned.

Certainly there is precedent for this in many states of the United States where clergymen have publicly favored or opposed legislation directly related to the churches either with respect to tax exemptions of property or the system of releasing children from school in the afternoon to go to religious services.

Not long ago the Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., made a very important speech before the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School on the subject of the church in politics. He said:

"What happens each Sunday in the tens of thousands of pulpits in this land is more important than the pronouncements made occasionally by synods, conferences, or assemblies of our denominations or church councils. . .

"But I can say that the procedures by which the churches and the National Council attempt to get competent advice and advisers—whether on a farm problem, or on international affairs, or housing, or public education, on race relations or religious liberty—are procedures which anyone fair-minded among us might approve."

Dr. Blake went on to blast the critics of the National Council and added that "other denominations are facing attempts within official organizations to make it appear that the corporate church is incompetent to take moral positions in real issues in our social and international life."

In recent years many pronouncements have come from churchmen of all faiths on various issues that today are being debated in the presidential campaign.

Thus, a group of Protestant churchmen a few months ago brought out a report advocating the admission of Red China to the United Nations.

Other church groups have expressed themselves on different phases of domestic as well as international policy.

The only real dilemma arises when it is asserted that a citizen may be punished or penalized for choosing to differ on political matters from the viewpoint of his pastor or any group of clergymen in his church.

The Catholic authorities, for instance, say that the purpose of the Puerto Rican pastoral letter was merely to express an opinion, which was offered to the citizens for their consideration.

The prestige, of course, of any clergyman who possesses the confidence of the community can be said to influence the voters—and there are plenty of pamphlets and documents quoting eminent clergymen of all faiths on the question of separation of church and state.

Unless these contain some coercive or improper language, they are bound to be considered within the right of any organization, to express itself and to endeavor to persuade others to adopt the views held by such an organization or association. Free speech covers religious controversies, too.

No Spik Inglish

By Truman Twill

The academic subject closest to my heart is English. That's why my glasses steamed over when I read that the College Entrance Examination Board will start a nationwide effort to upgrade the teaching of English and correct the inability of incoming college students to express themselves.

English—not grammar. They're not the same thing. Unfortunately, most kids are turned against English by grammar teachers, who made the subject so dull it kills all interest in it. If we ever get things right side up in the teaching of English, no grammar will be taught at all, except to advanced students.

Most professional writers of English know no more about grammar than they know about thermodynamics. All they know about is usage. They have concentrated on the bright art of communicating, not the black art of rationalizing the construction of their sentences.

This is one of the screwball oddities of education—this misplaced emphasis on grammar. You can teach a child to speak French fluently in the first few grades of school by encouraging it to imitate the sounds of that language as spoken by a French-speaking adult—no grammar, just the sound of the language.

You could teach a child to speak English fluently, if an English-speaking adult set the example. But no; the child is set to studying grammar, instead, and do nothing for the next few years but watch the English language being dissected know practically nothing about it.

If it weren't for radio, television and the occasional in-the-flesh adult who can make English sound like something, the spoken language would go by the board. That is precisely what has happened to the written language.

Except for a few pupils who learn to imitate writers, the way they imitate speakers, written English has gone by the board. This is why the College Entrance Examination Board plans to do something drastic. It is starting a generation late, but perhaps by 2000 A.D. its efforts will pay off.

Letter To The Editor

Ernest Whitacre, Columbiana County Republican chairman who spoke to his friends at City Hall recently, "stole the livery of the court of Heaven to serve the devil in" it would seem, when he deplored the influx of foreign-made goods which has crippled American industry and retarded the welfare of American workers and their families, and at the same time he predicted an abnormal Republican victory in November.

That is sort of a parados, as viewed by this writer.

Does Mr. Whitacre know that when the President made his trade compact with Japan our doors were thrown open to unlimited imports, manufactured by cheap labor whose wages and standards of living are far below those of workers in the United States?

Of concern to this area particularly is the pottery industry. Everybody knows that the potteries are fighting for their very existence because of abnormal imports from Japan and other foreign marts and we know, too, that no alleviation of the burden can be expected from the party in power.

"Get into some other business," was the edict of administration hirelings.

If Mr. Whitacre believes in the things he advocated in his speech last week, then he is not only in the wrong pew politically. He missed the church altogether.

White House Seen With 'Key' To Revealing Prestige Polls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House apparently will have to decide whether to make public any government polls on the status of U.S. prestige overseas.

Sen. John F. Kennedy renewed Tuesday earlier Democratic charges that polls have been made showing a drop in American prestige and that the administration has concealed the findings to protect Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the House Government operations subcommittee, said Tuesday night a claim of executive privilege had blocked his staff's effort to learn whether such a poll is being suppressed by the U.S. Information Agency.

Moss quoted Thomas Roderick, USIA general counsel, as saying USIA Director George V. Allen "is checking with the White House" for a decision on whether such reports should be withheld.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, brushed aside all queries on the existence of such reports. He referred newsmen to a statement last week that the President's Committee on Information Activities Abroad had made no report and "no conclusions as to the status of U.S. prestige abroad."

Kennedy and Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate foreign Relations Committee, had asked earlier for the reports without success.

Guild Threatens Strike Against 7 New York Papers

NEW YORK (AP)—American Newspaper Guild members at all seven major daily newspapers in New York City have voted to strike next Tuesday unless a satisfactory work agreement is reached by then.

One of the papers, the New York Times, asked for and obtained the intervention of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service in its dispute with the Guild. The Union agreed to the proposal, and federal mediation officials enter discussions today.

The Guild's Herald Tribune unit Tuesday night voted 476-4, with 1 abstention, in favor of a strike.

Similar action had been taken at the Times, the Post, the Daily News, the Daily Mirror, the Journal-American and the World-Telegram & Sun.

The Guild is seeking a 10 per cent wage increase, a union shop, increased job security, a 2 per cent increase in employer pension contributions, a ninth paid holiday and other benefits.

Minimum wages now range from $58 a week for office boys to $160.55 for reporters and photographers under a two-year contract which expires at all seven papers at midnight, Oct. 31.

The collision involved a 1952 coupe operated by Robert Bowersock Jr. of Dairy Ln. and a 1953 model station wagon driven by Ora C. Seevers, 51, of 1628 St. George St., officers said.

Bowersock was headed east on Globe St. and Seevers was driving south on Walters, officers said. Seevers told police he halted for a stop sign at the intersection, saw no approaching cars, and then proceeded. The Bowersock car was knocked 39 feet from the point of impact, officers reported.

There was damage to the left rear of the Bowersock auto and the front of Seevers' station wagon, police reported.

Soviet's Rocket Forces Chief Dies In Air Accident

MOSCOW (AP) — Much-decorated Marshal Mitrofan I. Nedelin, 57, commander of Soviet rocket forces, has been killed in an aviation accident.

The announcement of the death of the veteran artilleryman gave no details except that he died Monday in the course of his duties.

His successor as commander of the strategic rocket force and as a deputy defense minister is Marshal Kirill S. Moskalenko, 60, commander of the Moscow Military District.

Nedelin's appointment as head of the rocket forces was announced last May 7 by Premier Khrushchev. That was the day Khrushchev said U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers had confessed being on an American spying mission when his plane was shot down a week previous by a rocket crew near Sverdlovsk.

Subsequently Khrushchev said he had given Nedelin direct authority to retaliate for any future spy flights by firing nuclear-armed rockets at the base from which the intruder came.

Steel Business In November Is Expected To Dip

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel business in November will be down from October and there is not likely to be any improvement in December, Iron Age Magazine said today.

"This means any recovery in steel operations is now set back into 1961," the metalworking weekly said.

However, the magazine made an important qualification to its gloomy summary:

"Orders, even from major users like the automakers, are on a week-to-week, even day-to-day, basis. This makes long range predicting difficult because any steel user can change his plans, and orders, over night.

"A surge of late orders during the month could bring November improvement. But, at best, November cannot be called a recovery month."

Iron Age said, "The disappointing November outlook is principally the result of the automotive production and sales outlook . . . .

"In addition, layoffs are scheduled, or are already being made, in some of the other major steel-consuming industries. These include appliance, farm equipment and heavy construction equipment makers."

2 From Weirton Taken To Moundsville Pen

NEW CUMBERLAND—Hancock County sheriff's deputies Tuesday conveyed two Weirton men to Moundsville State Penitentiary where one began a life sentence.

Charles Henry Burt of Weirton was convicted last month on a charge of statutory rape and was given a life term by Judge J. Harold Brennan. He was indicted on two other felony charges.

Jack Louis Rogers, convicted of breaking and entering a Weirton tavern, began a sentence of 1-10 years.

Gold Price On London Market Down By $1.40

LONDON (AP)—The price of gold on London's bullion market was fixed at $36.40 an ounce for the start of dealings today—down $1.40 from Tuesday's close.

The price hit a peak of $40.60 in frenzied speculative buying last week. This compared with the U.S. Treasury's official price of $35 an ounce.

One of the five dealers who fix the London price at the start of each day's trade said this morning's decline did not mean that the speculative bubble has burst.

"The fall was caused by some moderate selling, but this was mainly to test the strength of the market," he told a reporter.

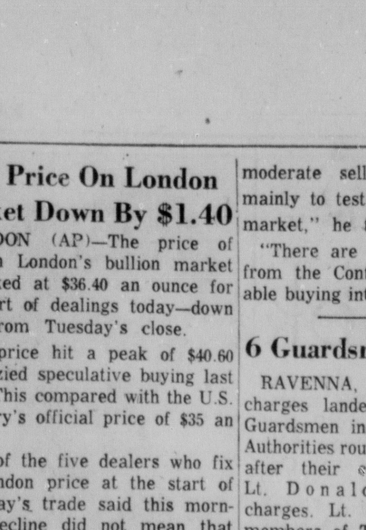

"There are still many inquiries from the Continent and considerable buying interest persists."

6 Guardsmen Jailed

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—AWOL charges landed six National Guardsmen in jail here Tuesday. Authorities rounded up the six after their commanding officer, Lt. Donald W. Davis, filed charges. Lt. Davis said the six members of Troop 6, 107th Armored Cavalry Regiment, of Ravenna, had been absent repeatedly from drills at the armory. The lieutenant later got two of the men released so they could go to work.

France Waits German Army, But This Time As An Ally

PARIS (AP)—The spearhead of another German army will arrive in France next week, this time as an ally.

A spokesman for the French Defense Ministry said that units of the West German army will take up training positions in Eastern France on Nov. 3 for an initial period of three weeks. A total of about 2,400 men will be in the units.

The Germans are coming under an agreement the governments of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Charles de Gaulle signed Tuesday night.

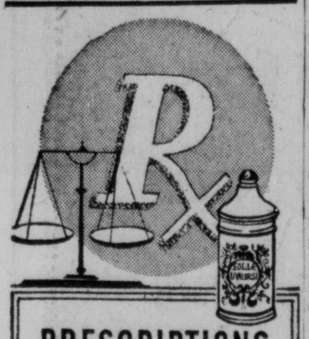

The French are to make training and storage facilities available. The bases will remain under French control.

The arrival of the Germans so soon after signing of the agreement means the two governments are hurrying to put the agreement into effect before opposition can crystallize.

The newspaper "Figaro" reported that as a gesture to French sensitivity, the initial German contingents will wear khaki uniforms similar to those worn by French, British and American soldiers and not the field gray Frenchmen associate with their Nazi occupiers.

The Defense Ministry said the Germans will train at Sissonne, near Laon, in the Aisne Department; and at Mourmelon, near Chalons-sur-Marne, in the Marne Department. Both areas saw bitter fighting in World War I. Sissonne also figured in the campaign of 1940.

The Defense Ministry made no announcement of further numbers to be trained, but there was speculation that about 35,000 Germans a year might use the French bases.

Rotary Club Inspects Harker's New Jigger

Rotary Club members visited the Harker Potter Co. in Chester Tuesday afternoon to observe the firm's revolutionary Wahl Trimatic jigger and finishing machine in operation.

John M. Pinney, vice president and general superintendent, described the machine's operations to fellow club members, some of whom are shown watching it turn out finished ware.

The Wahl Trimatic has been in operation at the Harker plant about six months. Fully automatic from the clay feeding to the finished ware, it is the only machine of its kind in this area, although several other potteries have similar equipment.

The jigger-finisher is rated at 1,600 dozen pieces of ware per 8-hour shift, with the versatility to produce one-third of each type of ware being made at the same rate of speed.

The complex machine and its necessary equipment stretches about 70 feet through the plant.

The visit to Harker's followed the club's noon luncheon in the Travelers Hotel. George Hargraves, president, presided. Pinney was program chairman.

Big Wave Knocks Over 4 Homes

ROCKAWAY, Ore. (AP)—It was an eerie sensation, George Harriman said, as he stood in his beach home and watched a huge wave ride the crest of a high tide. The wave came on and on, and then smashed into the house.

"My picture window is 5 by 8 feet and you couldn't see out for the water. It was clear above the window. The water broke the window and came right on in," he said.

Harriman's home was one of four knocked off their foundations Tuesday by the wave that crashed in from the sea and for a time covered streets of this coastal resort with two feet of water.

Only minor injuries were reported, but damage was widespread.

The wave came at the height of a storm that lashed the area with winds that carried gusts up to 40 miles an hour. Other coastal towns escaped the wave, the Coast Guard said.

Weirton Seeks Raise In Water Service Rate

CHARLESTON — Hearings were opened today on proposed water rate increases totaling about $100,000 more a year from 7,830 customers in Brooke and Hancock Counties.

Weirton has applied for the rate boosts with the Public Service Commission.

If the PSC approves the hike, each customer would have to pay about $13 extra a year.

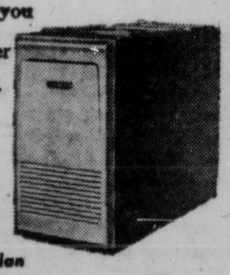

The city wants the money so it can get bonds at lower interest rates to pay for improvements. It would issue $1.6 million worth.

Hands Off London Gold Market

U.S. Sees No Real Threat To Confidence Of Dollar

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Gold gamblers have been allowed to have their own way on the London free market.

The U.S. Treasury has kept hands off while speculators bid the price as high as $41 an ounce —$6 above the official U.S. price to which our dollar is pegged. The Bank of England has stood on the sidelines, too. So have other foreign central banks.

Any of these could have burst the gambling bubble by releasing a large supply of gold to London's free market, where the small amount available has let speculators force the price up by aggressive bidding.

The hands off policy is deliberate. The Treasury is said to feel that is in the best long-run interest of the United States.

The treasury doesn't like to see any assault on the confidence in the value of the U. S. dollar, but doesn't recognize any real peril at this time or any long term threat to confidence in the dollar.

Why doesn't the U. S. Treasury or the Bank of England or banks of other allies move to drop the fever chart quickly?

They could do so easily—and profitably.

Other nations have been piling up gold in the vaults of the New York Federal Reserve Bank. This could be transferred to London at a cost ranging from 10 to 20 cents an ounce, depending on the size of shipment.

With the free market price of gold ranging from $37 to $41 for several days, it would have been profitable for foreign banks to fly this gold to London—gold they bought for $35 from the U. S. Treasury, plus an 8¾ cent an ounce handling charge.

Such a flooding of London's free market would have broken the price.

Critics of the U. S. Treasury think this should have been done. The London Economist contends that foreign banks were discouraged from doing this by the U. S. Treasury. The weekly thinks the Treasury should reverse its stand and "positively encourage other central banks to undertake" this way of bringing "the London market back into line." The Economist argues that "the American authorities cannot ignore the psycholigical effect of the dollar premium on gold in London."

Supporters of the hands-off policy argue intervention would harm rather than cure. They hold that a direct move to burst the gold price bubble would show to the world how worried the U. S. Treasury is about the value of the dollar, and thus merely encourage those who are gambling that sooner or later the United States must devalue the dollar by raising the gold price.

Ceremonies On Friday To Open Erie Thruway

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Ribbon-cutting ceremonies Friday will mark the official opening of the $40 million Erie Thruway—a 46-mile stretch of highway through the northwestern tip of Pennsylvania, linking Ohio and New York.

Park H. Martin, state highways secretary, will cut the ribbon at the eastern end of the highway at the New York-Pennsylvania state line.

The new thruway is a link in Interstate Route 9, a federal highway which extends halfway across the nation.

The new four-lane road passes to the south of Erie, connecting with the New York Thruway to the east of the newly built Ohio freeway to the west.

Table Tennis Tourney Set At Wellsville

A citywide table tennis contest for the youth of the community will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at Wellsville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5647.

Plans for the tournament were outlined at a meeting of the post Tuesday night. The contest is open to all youths from the 7th through 12th grades.

They will be divided into two divisions, seventh through ninth grades and sophomores through seniors. Anyone interested in participating should contact Dorman Rosenlieb.

The winner of each division will participate in the 6th District playoff Nov. 5 at Dover. Transportation will be provided.

In other business, the post went on record as favoring passage of the half-mill playground levy on the Nov. 8 ballot. A letter was received from Jack Lanam, Junior Chamber of Commerce president, explaining what the money will be used for. The levy will return approximately $5,000 per year.

Emmett Daniels, commander, presided. The membership committee reported 38 have paid their 1961 dues. It was announced Mike Prokop has become a life member. John Prokop, quartermaster, said there are three plans under which one may sign as a life member.

Post officers urged all members to vote. The next meeting is Nov. 8.

Bill Daddio, Notre Dame end coach, is an alumnus of Pittsburgh.

Lodge, Wife Due In Cleveland Bid

CLEVELAND (AP) — For the first four hours after their arrival at Cleveland Hopkins Airport Thursday at 12:15 p.m., Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican vice presidential candidate, and his wife are scheduled to make their bid for votes separately.

He will go on a motorcade of Lorain County shopping centers. Mrs.. Lodge will attend a tea, luncheon and meetings on Cleveland's East Side in company with Mrs. Jewel Stradford Rogers, Chicago attorney who seconded Lodge's nomination at the Chicago convention.

Lodge has a 20-minute speech scheduled on Western Reserve University's campus about 4:30 p.m., and his wife will join him there.

The GOP candidate's major appearance will be a speech at Masonic Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

Pre-Natal Class Ends

LISBON — Ten expectant mothers attended the sixth and final meeting in a series of pre-natal classes sponsored by the Columbiana County Health Department Tuesday afternoon. Baby bathing was the subject demonstrated by Mrs. Violet Peterson, county health nurse. The Lisbon Welcome Wagon was hostess group for the series.

A piece of corned beef brisket weighing about 3 pounds usually needs 3 to 3¾ hours cooking when it is covered with water and simmered.

Catholic Youth Council Sets Dance At Center

A dance will be held Sunday from 7:30 to 11 p. m. for members of the Midland Catholic Youth Council of the Presentation Catholic Church and their guests at the Hi-Spot Youth Center.

Preceding the dance, members will attend the concluding 40-hours Devotions at the church when boys of the youth group will be invested into the Holy Name Society.

Hands Off London Gold Market

U.S. Sees No Real Threat To Confidence Of Dollar

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Gold gamblers have been allowed to have their own way on the London free market.

The U.S. Treasury has kept hands off while speculators bid the price as high as $41 an ounce —$6 above the official U.S. price to which our dollar is pegged. The Bank of England has stood on the sidelines, too. So have other foreign central banks.

Any of these could have burst the gambling bubble by releasing a large supply of gold to London's free market, where the small amount available has let speculators force the price up by aggressive bidding.

The hands off policy is deliberate. The Treasury is said to feel that is in the best long-run interest of the United States.

The treasury doesn't like to see any assault on the confidence in the value of the U. S. dollar, but doesn't recognize any real peril at this time or any long term threat to confidence in the dollar.

Why doesn't the U. S. Treasury or the Bank of England or banks of other allies move to drop the fever chart quickly?

They could do so easily—and profitably.

Other nations have been piling up gold in the vaults of the New York Federal Reserve Bank. This could be transferred to London at a cost ranging from 10 to 20 cents an ounce, depending on the size of shipment.

With the free market price of gold ranging from $37 to $41 for several days, it would have been profitable for foreign banks to fly this gold to London—gold they bought for $35 from the U. S. Treasury, plus an 8¾ cent an ounce handling charge.

Such a flooding of London's free market would have broken the price.

Critics of the U. S. Treasury think this should have been done. The London Economist contends that foreign banks were discouraged from doing this by the U. S. Treasury. The weekly thinks the Treasury should reverse its stand and "positively encourage other central banks to undertake" this way of bringing "the London market back into line." The Economist argues that "the American authorities cannot ignore the psycholigical effect of the dollar premium on gold in London."

Supporters of the hands-off policy argue intervention would harm rather than cure. They hold that a direct move to burst the gold price bubble would show to the world how worried the U. S. Treasury is about the value of the dollar, and thus merely encourage those who are gambling that sooner or later the United States must devalue the dollar by raising the gold price.

Ceremonies On Friday To Open Erie Thruway

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Ribbon-cutting ceremonies Friday will mark the official opening of the $40 million Erie Thruway—a 46-mile stretch of highway through the northwestern tip of Pennsylvania, linking Ohio and New York.

Park H. Martin, state highways secretary, will cut the ribbon at the eastern end of the highway at the New York-Pennsylvania state line.

The new thruway is a link in Interstate Route 9, a federal highway which extends halfway across the nation.

The new four-lane road passes to the south of Erie, connecting with the New York Thruway to the east of the newly built Ohio freeway to the west.

Table Tennis Tourney Set At Wellsville

A citywide table tennis contest for the youth of the community will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at Wellsville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5647.

Plans for the tournament were outlined at a meeting of the post Tuesday night. The contest is open to all youths from the 7th through 12th grades.

They will be divided into two divisions, seventh through ninth grades and sophomores through seniors. Anyone interested in participating should contact Dorman Rosenlieb.

The winner of each division will participate in the 6th District playoff Nov. 5 at Dover. Transportation will be provided.

In other business, the post went on record as favoring passage of the half-mill playground levy on the Nov. 8 ballot. A letter was received from Jack Lanam, Junior Chamber of Commerce president, explaining what the money will be used for. The levy will return approximately $5,000 per year.

Emmett Daniels, commander, presided. The membership committee reported 38 have paid their 1961 dues. It was announced Mike Prokop has become a life member. John Prokop, quartermaster, said there are three plans under which one may sign as a life member.

Post officers urged all members to vote. The next meeting is Nov. 8.

Bill Daddio, Notre Dame end coach, is an alumnus of Pittsburgh.

Lodge, Wife Due In Cleveland Bid

CLEVELAND (AP) — For the first four hours after their arrival at Cleveland Hopkins Airport Thursday at 12:15 p.m., Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican vice presidential candidate, and his wife are scheduled to make their bid for votes separately.

He will go on a motorcade of Lorain County shopping centers. Mrs. Lodge will attend a tea, luncheon and meetings on Cleveland's East Side in company with Mrs. Jewel Stradford Rogers, Chicago attorney who seconded Lodge's nomination at the Chicago convention.

Lodge has a 20-minute speech scheduled on Western Reserve University's campus about 4:30 p.m., and his wife will join him there.

The GOP candidate's major appearance will be a speech at Masonic Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

Pre-Natal Class Ends

LISBON — Ten expectant mothers attended the sixth and final meeting in a series of pre-natal classes sponsored by the Columbiana County Health Department Tuesday afternoon. Baby bathing was the subject demonstrated by Mrs. Violet Peterson, county health nurse. The Lisbon Welcome Wagon was hostess group for the series.

A piece of corned beef brisket weighing about 3 pounds usually needs 3 to 3¾ hours cooking when it is covered with water and simmered.

Catholic Youth Council Sets Dance At Center

A dance will be held Sunday from 7:30 to 11 p. m. for members of the Midland Catholic Youth Council of the Presentation Catholic Church and their guests at the Hi-Spot Youth Center.

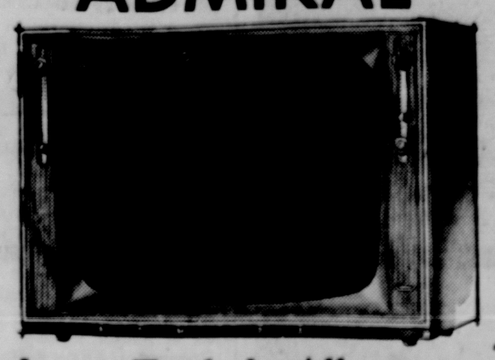

Plans were made at a meeting of the executive committee of the CYC Monday evening in the Presentation Parochial School.

Preceding the dance, members will attend the concluding 40-hours Devotions at the church when boys of the youth group will be invested into the Holy Name Society.

Daniel Orlando Jr., president, conducted the meeting.

he pointed out. A big shopping center had opened to the north of the city in 1956 and another opened to the south last month. The outskirts also bloomed with two drive-in theaters, two major bowling centers, drive-in restaurants and three motels—which led to the closing of the city's major hotel.

Professional men established facilities away from the downtown. Many neighborhood "convenience centers" were established, complete with automatic laundries, hardwares, dental clinics, dry cleaning outlets and similar establishments.

TWO MAJOR new office buildings were erected outside the downtown area. "Dead spots" showed up in the central business area and figures showed Newark's retail trade was running 4 per cent behind Licking County, of which it is a part.

With those facts developed in its study, the Chamber was able to sell the community on the need to revitalize the downtown area, he explained.

The first step in any such project is a study to determine the problems the area faces and what it will do to overcome them, Milliken said.

"It takes everyone to make this thing a success—not just the merchant and the business property-owner," Milliken said. "Everyone has a stake in downtown."

A highlight of the program was a series of slides screened by Logan, showing some of the "problem" buildings in downtown Newark, including some that have been razed, modernized or rebuilt since the "renaissance" began.

In connection with the parking problem, Milliken said the business-financed Newark Parking Service, Inc., has done the most to provide off-street spaces.

THE CORPORATION was formed 5 years ago, when $50,000 in stock was sold at $100 a share, he said. The money was used to acquire property for metered parking lots, then revenue from the operation retired the debt. Assets of the corporation have grown to $84,000 and the stock pays a dividend each year, he said.

In acquiring new lots, the corporation uses part of its capital for a down payment, borrowing the balance, he explained. It has 3 metered lots in operation, charging 5 cents hourly for parking. In some instances, the rate is set at 25 cents for all-day parkers to encourage store employes to keep their cars off the streets, he added.

As the program neared an end, Don Eckert, chairman of the East Liverpool Merchants Association, screened a series of slides of downtown East Liverpool. He pointed out the need for improved show window lighting and store front modernization. Old, dark buildings help give some areas a drab appearance, he pointed out.

ECKERT SAID an ELMA committee headed by Edwin Maloney has been working on downtown East Liverpool's problems since mid-summer. Its recommendations include improvements in parking and modernization of store fronts and interiors, he said.

"There's not too many things wrong with East Liverpool," Eckert said. "We have a good area and good people."

T. Fred Edwards, Chamber president, presided. He introduced guests, including Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver, members of Council and Karl Kahler, representing the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants at Columbus.

THE INVOCATION was by the Rev. James Gardner, pastor of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church and president of the Ministerial Association.

The program was arranged by the merchants' association. The Chamber banquet committee, John Pinney, Ralph A. Finley, Winston A. Porter and Frank A. Dawson,, had charge of dinner arrangements.

Davenport Destroyed By Fire In Apartment

A fire in a E. 6th St. apartment was extinguished at 2:10 a. m. today by city firemen.

A davenport at the apartment of Robert Adkins, 109½ E. 6th, above Varian's Bakery caught fire from a cigarette. The davenport was destroyed and minor water damage resulted to the rest of the apartment, firemen said.

Firemen were called to the First National Bank on E. 5th St. Tuesday at 6:15 p. m. when a fluorescent light in the vestibule shorted and caught fire.

Cancer Society Cites Lack Of Research Money

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Caner Society reported today it is unable to provide the amount of research money it needs, for the first time in its 16-year history.

Its scientific advisors have called for support of high-merit scientific projects that will cost more than the $9 million available for research during the current year, 1960-61.

The society's 1960 crusade brought in $28,400,000, said Dr. Harry M. Weaver, vice president for research. It was substantially less than the crusade's 1959 total of $30,373,000. Research support will be reduced even more markedly next year if more funds are not given, Weaver said.

In another report at the society's annual meeting, Dr. Warren Cole of the University of Illinois said an experimental method of treating breast cancer has reduced the death rate in patients 60 per cent so far.

Cole, who retires as society president at this meeting, said the method consists of medication with a potent anti-cancer drug—nitrogen mustard—before and during the removal of the diseased breast by surgery.

Affiliation Voted By Heights PTA

The Pleasant Heights Parent-Teacher Association met Monday evening in the school and decided to join the Columbiana County PTA Council.

In other business, the group voted to present a past president's pin to Willis Standley. Donald Schussler gave a report on the State House Conference on Education held at Westgate School.

Miss Ruth Armstrong gave a report on the October meeting of the city PTA Federation. A film, "He Acts His Age," was discussed by a panel which included Mrs. Rollin Shattenberger, Mrs. James Hays, Mrs. Elizabeth Steiner and William Wilson.

The first grade won the attendance award. Mrs. Thomas Snow led devotions and Frank Shone, second vice president, conducted business.

Next meeting is Nov. 28.

10,000 Youngsters Will Get Heaf Test For TB By February

Miss Lillian Schroeder, executive director of the Columbiana County Public Health League, estimates over 10,000 school pupils in the county will have received the new Heaf tuberculin test by February.

Being used for the first time this year in many Columbiana County schools, it has been approved by the Columbiana County Medical Society.

The society last week endorsed the Hefa test as a screening test to replace the Vollmer patch test, providing the test is interpreted by competent personnel such as a doctor or nurse.

First use of the Heaf test in the county took place last May when the Public Health League and the Beaver Local School District cooperated in a screening program of Beaver Local pupils.

Acceptance of the painless test, applied by a multiple-puncture device call the sterneedle, has been rapid, Miss Schroeder said.

Approximately 280 pupils at Fairfield School will receive the test today. Children at Our Lady of Lourdes Parochial School at East Palestine, the Joshua Dixon School in Columbiana and Fairview School at Hillcrest, Wellsville, were screened earlier this month.

The schedule for November and December follows:

Wednesday, Nov. 2, Columbiana High School; Thursday, Nov. 3, New Waterford School; Friday, Nov. 4, Negley and Unity Schools; Thursday, Nov. 10, Leetonia High School and Washingtonville School; Monday, Nov. 14, East Palestine Junior High School; Thursday, Nov. 17, Leetonia South Side and Orchard Grove Schools; Friday, Nov. 18, East Palestine High School.

Thursday, Dec. 1, Leetonia Parochial School; Friday, Dec. 2, E. North Ave. School and Capt. Taggart School in East Palestine.

Miss Schroeder, said the Wellsville Board of Health requested the Heaf test for children in Wellsville schools, and other requests are anticipated from county rural schools.

NEGLEY — Construction has begun for a new post office building, slated for completion by Jan. 1, weather permitting, Postmaster Harry Bricker has announced.

Ground was broken Monday for the concrete brick structure to be built by William McCowin of Negley for Edward Powers of Negley, who is leasing it to the Postal Department.

The new building will be located on Commerce St., about 150 feet south of the present post office. Original plans were submitted twice earlier this year, with expectations of having the building erected by this time, but were lost at Columbus and had to be re-submitted, authorities said.

Cancer Society Cites Lack Of Research Money

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Caner Society reported today it is unable to provide the amount of research money it needs, for the first time in its 16-year history.

Its scientific advisors have called for support of high-merit scientific projects that will cost more than the $9 million available for research during the current year, 1960-61.

The society's 1960 crusade brought in $28,400,000, said Dr. Harry M. Weaver, vice president for research. It was substantially less than the crusade's 1959 total of $30,373,000. Research support will be reduced even more markedly next year if more funds are not given, Weaver said.

In another report at the society's annual meeting, Dr. Warren Cole of the University of Illinois said an experimental method of treating breast cancer has reduced the death rate in patients 60 per cent so far.

Cole, who retires as society president at this meeting, said the method consists of medication with a potent anti-cancer drug—nitrogen mustard—before and during the removal of the diseased breast by surgery.

Affiliation Voted By Heights PTA

The Pleasant Heights Parent-Teacher Association met Monday evening in the school and decided to join the Columbiana County PTA Council.

In other business, the group voted to present a past president's pin to Willis Standley. Donald Schussler gave a report on the State House Conference on Education held at Westgate School.

Miss Ruth Armstrong gave a report on the October meeting of the city PTA Federation. A film, "He Acts His Age," was discussed by a panel which included Mrs. Rollin Shatzenberger, Mrs. James Hays, Mrs. Elizabeth Steiner and William Wilson.

The first grade won the attendance award. Mrs. Thomas Snow led devotions and Frank Shone, second vice president, conducted business.

Next meeting is Nov. 28.

10,000 Youngsters Will Get Heaf Test For TB By February

Miss Lillian Schroeder, executive director of the Columbiana County Public Health League, estimates over 10,000 school pupils in the county will have received the new Heaf tuberculin test by February.

Being used for the first time this year in many Columbiana County schools, it has been approved by the Columbiana County Medical Society.

The society last week endorsed the Hefa test as a screening test to replace the Vollmer patch test, providing the test is interpreted by competent personnel such as a doctor or nurse.

First use of the Heaf test in the county took place last May when the Public Health League and the Beaver Local School District cooperated in a screening program of Beaver Local pupils.

Acceptance of the painless test, applied by a multiple-puncture device call the sterneedle, has been rapid, Miss Schroeder said.

Approximately 280 pupils at Fairfield School will receive the test today. Children at Our Lady of Lourdes Parochial School at East Palestine, the Joshua Dixon School in Columbiana and Fairview School at Hilcrest, Wellsville, were screened earlier this month.

The schedule for November and December follows:

Wednesday, Nov. 2, Columbiana High School; Thursday, Nov. 3, New Waterford School; Friday, Nov. 4, Negley and Unity Schools; Thursday, Nov. 10, Leetonia High School and Washingtonville School; Monday, Nov. 14, East Palestine Junior High School; Thursday, Nov. 17, Leetonia South Side and Orchard Grove Schools; Friday, Nov. 18, East Palestine High School.

Thursday, Dec. 1, Leetonia Parochial School; Friday, Dec. 2, E. North Ave. School and Capt. Taggart School in East Palestine.

Miss Schroeder, said the Wellsville Board of Health requested the Heaf test for children in Wellsville schools, and other requests are anticipated from county rural schools.

In another mishap yesterday, a car driven by Barbara McMillen, 27, of 344 N. Market St., East Palestine, collided with an oncoming car driven by Catherine Schlag, 33, of Columbiana on Route 344 between Leetonia and Columbiana at 2:50 p. m.

Officers said the East Palestine woman had to attempt a sudden stop when a vehicle ahead halted, and she grabbed for a child on the seat beside her. The car veered to one side and rammed the oncoming Schlag car.

Dismissed in 1940 by the Vichy regime, he fled to the United States where he became a consultant at the Library of Congress.

Perse is the 53rd winner of the literary prize which has been awarded since 1901, and the 11th Frenchman to win or share in the award.

Son Asks Court To Take Father's Driver License

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Edward Ashby is 80, stone deaf and extremely independent. He also is a dangerous driver, says his son Wayne, 54.

"Take his license, Judge. I want to save his life or someone else's," the son pleaded in traffic court Tuesday.

The father was charged with reckless driving. Police said he attempted a U-turn in heavy traffic.

Wayne Ashby said state officials refused to revoke his father's license without affidavits.

"My father will obey the law; he won't drive if he doesn't have a license, but as long as he has one he will," the son said.

Judge Ralph Stone continued the case to Nov. 29.

Ohioan Is Among 36 Indicted In Mail Fraud

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—An Ohio man is among 36 persons named Monday in a 33-count mail fraud conspiracy indictment involving officers and employes of the defunct Lenders Service Co. of Little Rock, Ark. The indictments charge that North Dakotans needing loans were induced to pay an advance fee and sign a contract after being assured of receiving loans from lenders obtained by the firm.

Leonard Rocker of Cleveland, a salesman, was indicted. Also indicted was the Cleveland regional director, H. Eugene Gilbert of Minneapolis.

Harry Ferguson, 75, Tractor Magnate, Dies

LONDON (AP) — Harry Ferguson, tractor magnate, died Tuesday. He was 75.

Fergason was inventor of a lightweight tractor which sold all over the world. He once fought a multi-million-dollar law suit with the Ford Motor Co. in the United States.

Ferguson charged the Ford firm with conspiring to destroy his company and infringing on his tractor patent.

The Irish-born inventor sued for $342 million. In an out-of-court settlement, he got $9,250,000.

To Be Paroled

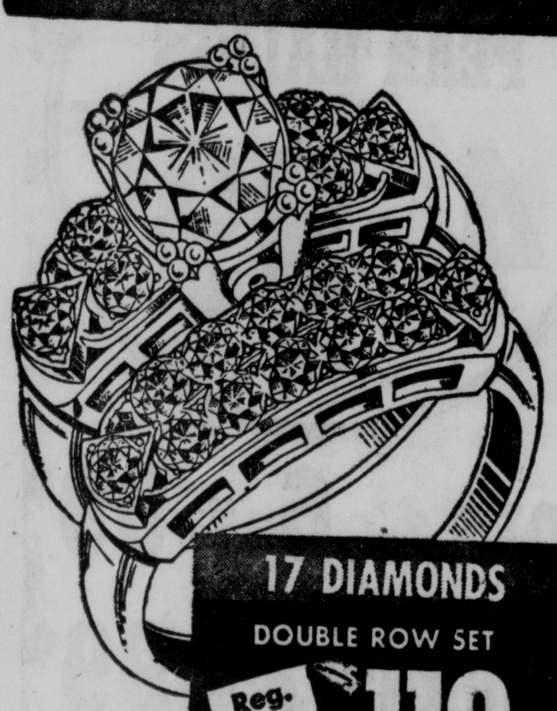

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—William Cherry, formerly of Cincinnati, Ohio, will be paroled next month from the New Jersey Penitentiary. He had been sentenced to 1-3 years in prison on charges of violating the state alcoholic beverages law. The parole board said he was caught trying to take corn whiskey through the state.

WHAT STARTS THINGS ROLLING RIGHT AFTER ELECTION?

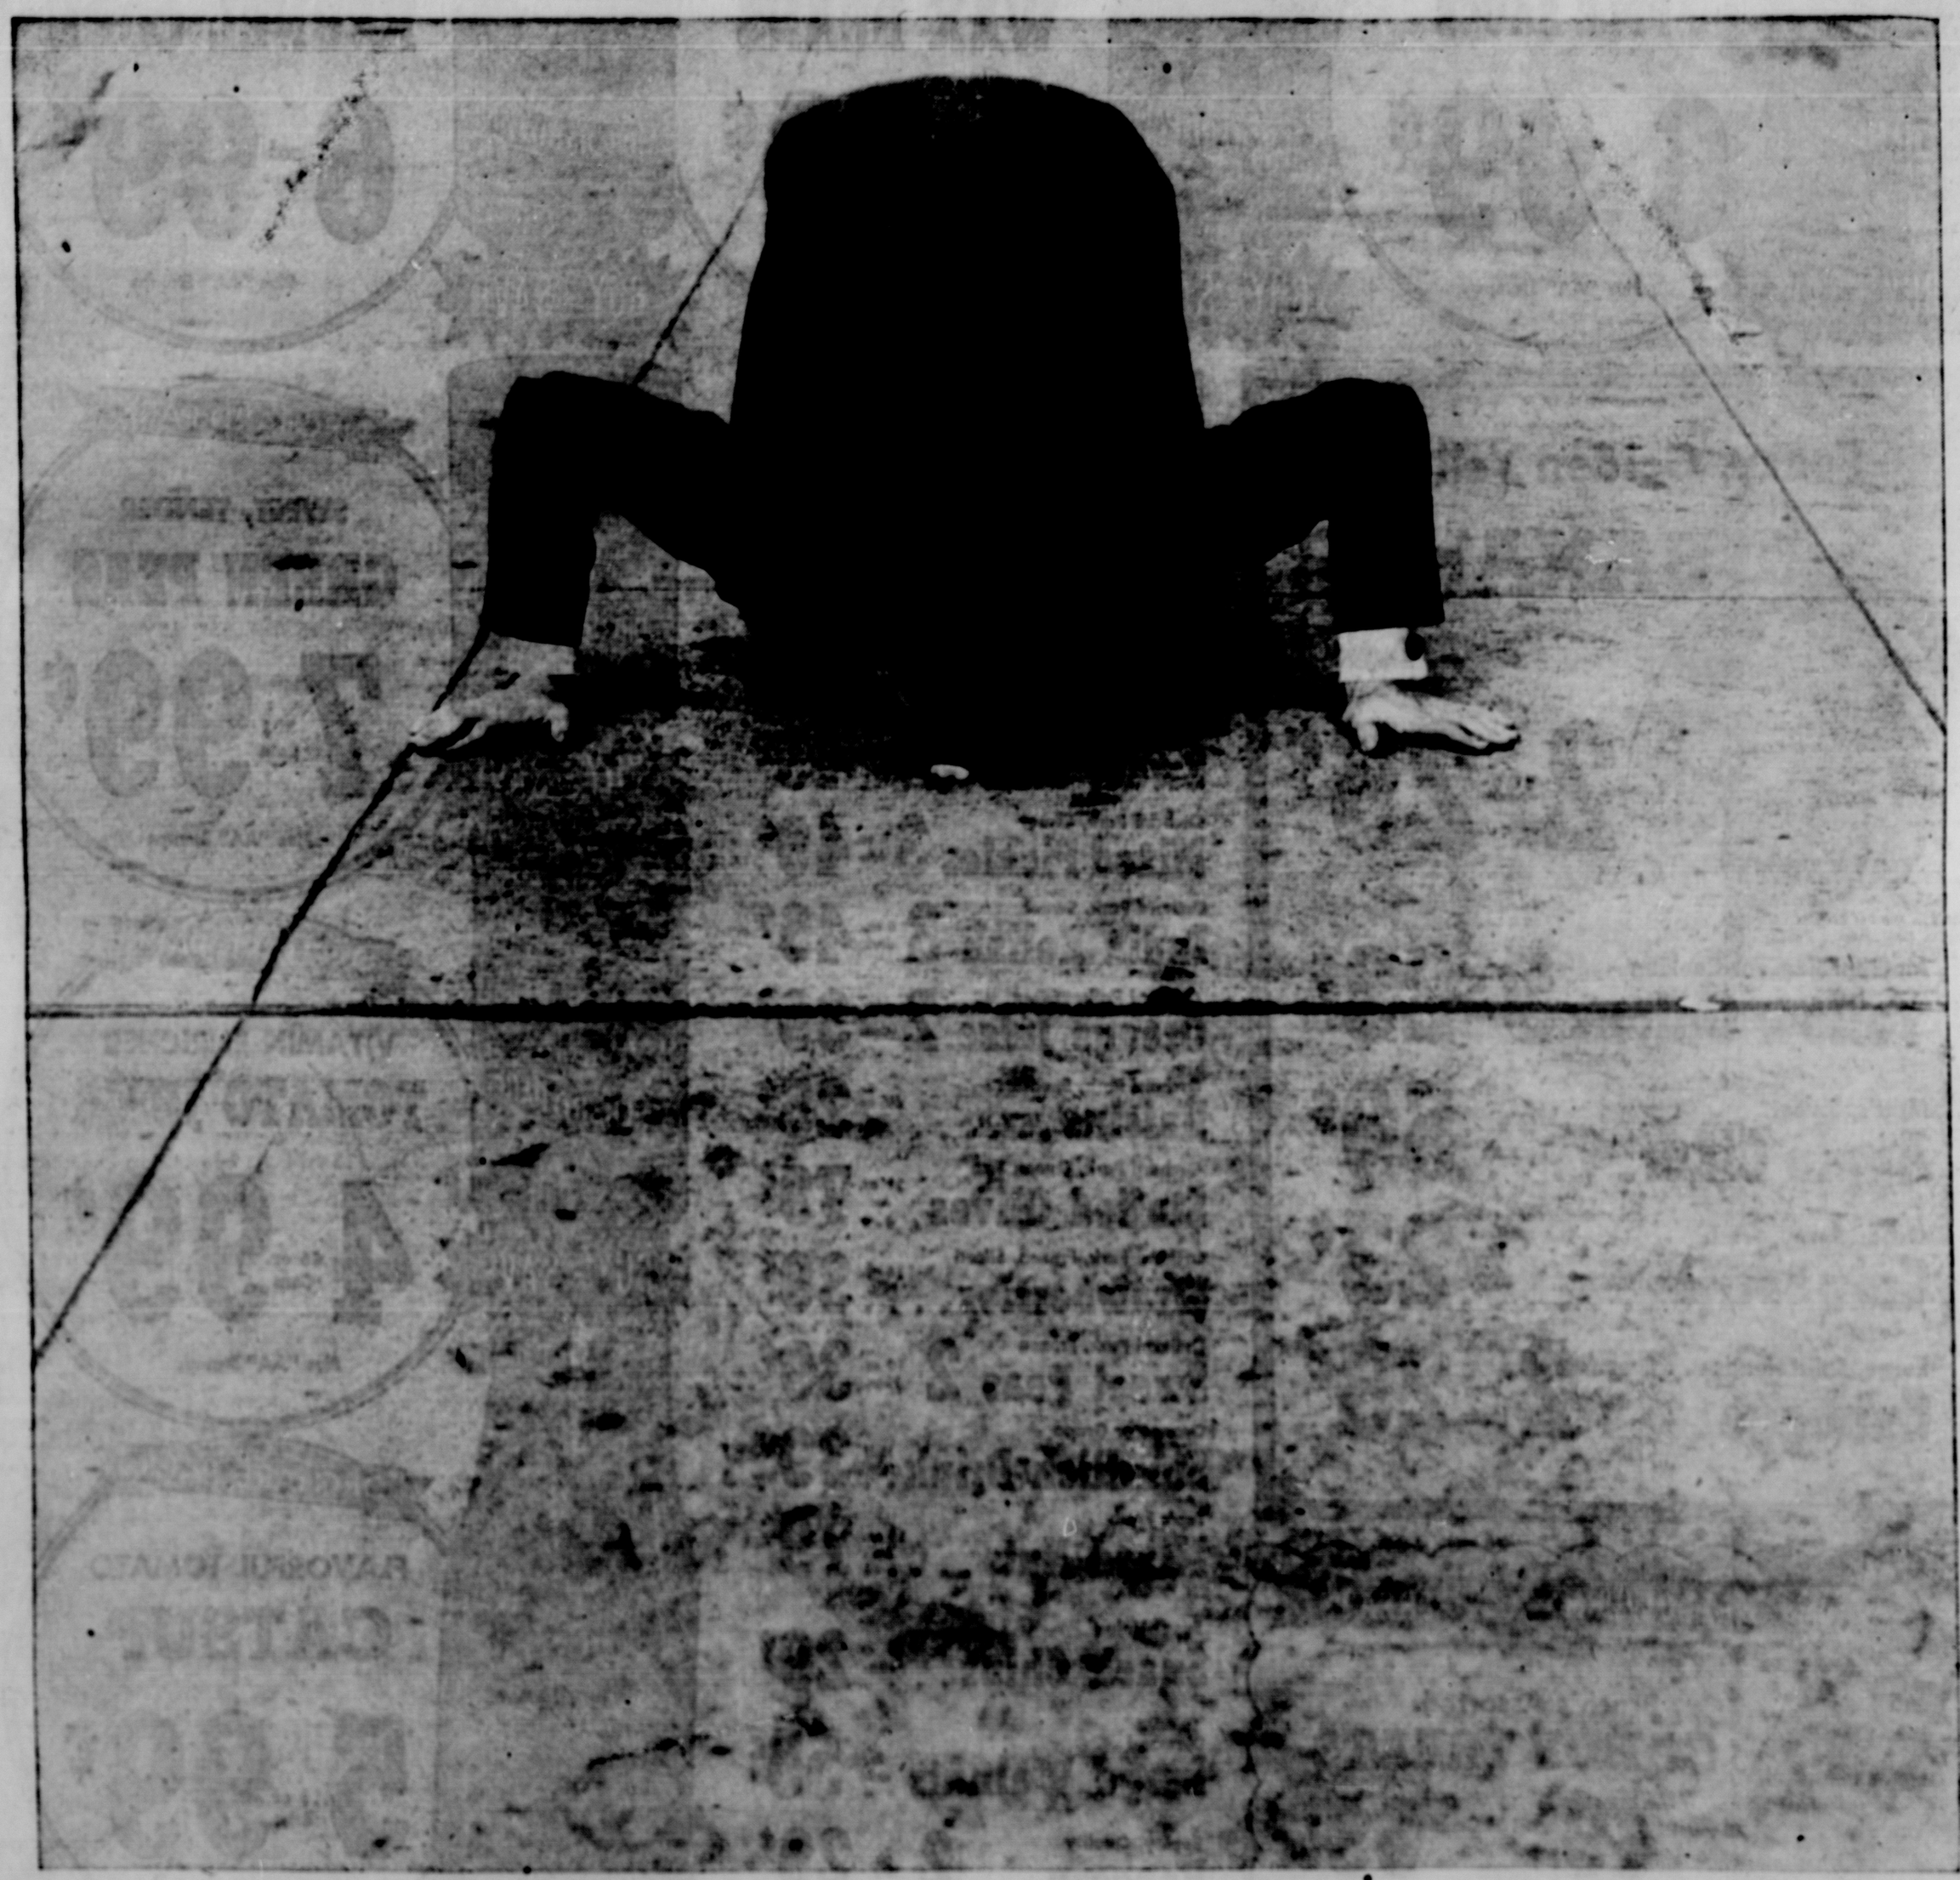

The election returns, of course. But who totes up these results so you have them scant hours after the polls close? Not the government. (Government returns won't be certified for weeks.) The count is made by almost 10,000 daily and weekly newspapers working hand in hand with Associated Press and United Press International. On election night, tens of thousands of newsmen pick up vote totals at precinct level, feed them up the line to local, state and national headquarters. Computers translate the numbers into hard election facts: who won, who lost. (Generally, the press wire services handle state and national counts; your local newspapers, city and county contests.) Vote counting is only one key role newspapers play in a free election. Newspapers bring you coverage—in unmatched depth—of conventions and campaigns. Newspapers bring you candidates' words in a form you can go back to for checking and rechecking. On editorial pages, newspapers express opinions, explore issues, help you weigh platforms and promises—help you make a well-informed choice. At election time—and all the time—you can bet on newspapers. And never lose.

Kennedy's Sister Barnstorms Ohio For Her Brother

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Peter Lawford, wife of the actor, took a supporting role as she barnstormed through Northern Ohio Tuesday to campaign for her brother, Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Accompanying the attractive ash-blonde were Mrs. Michael V. DiSalle, wife of the governor; Miss Frances McGovern, member of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio; Mrs. Maggie Hahn, chairman of the women's division of the Democratic National Committee, and Mrs. Helen Gunsett of Van Wert, Democratic national committeewoman from Ohio.

Appearing tired when she stopped at Avon Lake in the evening, Mrs. Lawford declined to talk about issues in the presidential campaign but, she said, enthusiasm "is growing and growing" for Sen. Kennedy.

The group visited Toledo, Defiance, Findlay, Fremont and Elyria before going to Avon Lake.

Mrs. Lawford said after leaving Ohio she will join her brother campaigning in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and California.

Fugitive Warrant Out For Man Who Wounded Officer

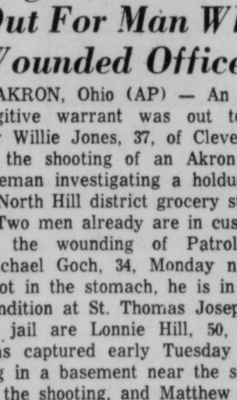

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — An FBI fugitive warrant was out today for Willie Jones, 37, of Cleveland in the shooting of an Akron policeman investigating a holdup at a North Hill district grocery store.

Two men already are in custody in the wounding of Patrolman Michael Goch, 34, Monday night. Shot in the stomach, he is in fair condition at St. Thomas Josepital. In jail are Lonnie Hill, 50, who was captured early Tuesday hiding in a basement near the scene of the shooting, and Matthew Gibson, 37, who surrendered Tuesday night to Sheriff William M. Bird. Both Hill and Gibson are Cleveland residents.

Hill, who implicated the other two, was shot through the left forearm by Goch when the patrolman and his cruiser partner, John Lower, were trying to round up three men who had taken $200 from Donato Cianciola, 27, at his grocery warehouse.

If you have tiny cutters in different shapes you can make attractive miniature cutouts from slices of preserved ginger. Use the ginger garnishes on a bowl of sliced oranges or canned or frozen peaches.

Girl's Swim Suit Puts Grandma In 'Stitches'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When 16-year-old Linda Levitt does acrobatics with other water skiers, her grandmother worries.

The grandmother, Mrs. Mildred Swincher, knows Linda is an excellent athlete but she is primarily concerned about her swimming suits.

Lithe Linda is only 4-feet-11 and weighs 85 pounds, and it's hard to find swim suits that fit her. Mrs. Swincher makes most of them herself.

"Linda's always the top one on the pyramids because she's so light," says Mrs. Swincher. "And all that climbing is hard on suits. I kind of hold my breath sometimes, hoping the stitches will hold."

Linda doesn't share her concern, explaining: "I've never even had a strap break."

Growing Pains Hit Junior Circuit

Los Angeles Eyed As One New Club

NEW YORK (AP)—Massachusetts has ruled Pic-Six illegal in horse race betting. Any college football coach will tell you he must have the horses to win. So, just horsing around, we're trying to avoid picking six losers.

This week's picks:

Iowa over Kansas: The Big Ten teams that wasn't supposed to go anywhere meets the Big Eight club that was to have taken everything. Despite John Hadl, the Hawkeyes will win in a thriller.

Mississippi over Louisiana State: There was a time when LSU had the Chinese Bandits, but this year the Rebels have that famed non-Oriental, Jake Gibbs.

Syracuse over Pittsburgh: Twice beaten, twice - tied Pittsburgh could take this, but Ernie Davis and his mates will pull it out.

Navy over Notre Dame: Joe Bellino gets better as the season progresses.

Missouri over Nebraska: The Tigers are one of the most underrated teams in the Midlands.

Minnesota over Kansas State: A breez for the Paul Bunyans of the football North.

Baylor over Texas Christian: Ronnie Bull will batter his way into the headlines for the Southwest Conference leaders.

Michigan State over Ohio State: The Buckeyes are No. 8 on the national list, the Spartans No. 10, but the pick is Michigan State despite Carl Charon's twisted knee.

Purdue over Illinois: A rough day ahead for John Easterbrook, the Illini's Tom Thumb quarterback.

Duke over Georgia Tech: A toughie but the home field gives Duke the edge.

Others: Army over Miami of Ohio, Cincinnati over Xavier, Oklahoma over Colorado, Northwestern over Indiana, Oklahoma State over Iowa State, Wichita over Dayton, Wisconsin over Michigan.

New Mexico State Tops In Scoring And Offense

By The Associated Press

New Mexico State, the Border Conference powerhouse, leads the nation's major football teams in both scoring and total offense, stands fourth place in rushing and sixth in forward passing.

Warren Woodson's Aggies are clicking along at a 40.8 points-per-game average and have piled up a total of 2,505 yards for an average of 417.5 per game in their six victories, according to NCAA statistics released today.

Missouri is second in the points-per-game race with a 30.3 average.

Utah State is second in total offense with 2,502 yards.

DiMaggio Not Happy About Losing Mark

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Vince, the oldest of baseball's three DiMaggio brothers, thought over the question for a few seconds.

"Are you glad," he was asked, "that your record of striking out 134 times in a National League season has finally been broken?"

He answered:

"No, in a way no. As long as no one beat it, I would still be remembered."

A power batter—he hit four grand slam homers in the 1945 season—Vince was the National League member of his illustrious family. He played with the Boston Braves, Philadelphia Phillies and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Brother Joe gained Hall of Fame honors with the New York Yankees and Dom starred with the Boston Red Sox. Vince was good enough to stay in the majors until 1946.

In 1938, early in his major league career, Vince struck out 134 times while playing with the Braves. That was the major league mark until Jim Lemon of Washington struck out 138 times in 1958. Then in 1960, Philadelphia's Pancho Herrera erased DiMaggio's name in the National League books as he fanned for the 135th time.

Westgate Tops Irish, 22-14

Westgate's seventh and eighth grade team handed St. Aloysius its second setback, 22-14, Tuesday at Patterson Field.

The Westgate scoring was recorded by three different backs.

Dick Deem went around right end for 16 yards in the first period, then Chuck Taylor hit off tackle from 7 yards away in the second quarter.

Denny Bush turned in a 66-yard TD gallop to cap the scoring in the fourth quarter. Taylor and Dean each added conversions for the winners.

Bob Brooks, leading scorer for the Irish, went 44 yards to paydirt in the opening period and Pat Chema scooted around the end for 10 yards and a TD in the final quarter. Chema added the lone conversion for the Irish.

El Reserve Team Gains Fourth Win

The East Liverpool reserves picked up their fourth win in five games Monday with a 14-0 win over Beaver.

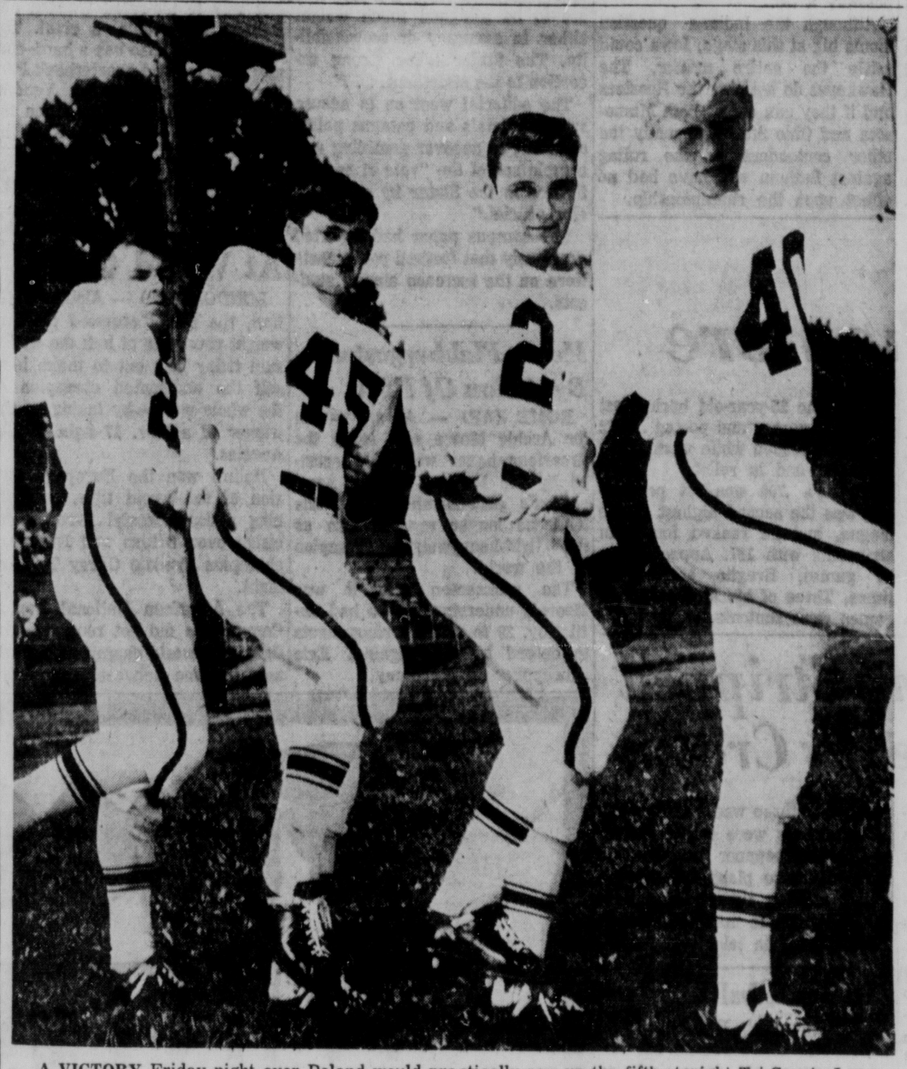

A blocked punt was turned into one touchdown early in the fourth quarter. As several Potter linemen blocked the punt, tackle Bob Parsons grabbed the ball in the air and raced 45 yards for the touchdown.

Gene Wolfe smacked over for the conversion to give East Liverpool an 8-0 lead.

In the fourth period, Len Oliver plunged over from the 1-yard line to cap the Potter scoring.

30 Pros Shatter Par

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Thirty professionals shattered par 72 as the third annual Hotel Sahara 54-hole golf tournament got under way with 60 competitors Tuesday. Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., topped the pro-amateur event with 66.

A VICTORY Friday night over Poland would practically sew up the fifth straight Tri-County League title for the East Palestine Bulldogs. Coach Howard Weyers will be counting on these four backfield standouts, left-to-right: Jim Wisser, Willard Leake, Jack Istnick and Jerry Bush, who is second leading scorer in the district. East Palestine and Poland are tied for the league lead with 4-0 records.

Buckeyes Are Underdogs

Syracuse Is Picked Over Pitt, Hawkeyes Favored

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Baseball League today was expected to stake its claim in Los Angeles at a meeting designed to expand the circuit to 10 clubs in time for the 1962 season.

Los Angeles, together with Dallas-Fort Worth and Minneapolis-St. Paul, are regarded as the only cities among a dozen applicants being considered seriously for the ninth and 10th franchises.

The National League nine days ago beat its junior rival to the gun by grabbing Houston and New York in the first expansion move in the majors in 62 years. The American League voted last month to expand to 10 teams, too.

While the NL had a comparatively easy time coming to unanimous agreement, the American was expected to be engaged in a long, drawn-out debate regarding Los Angeles. It was highly possible no decision would be reached at this meeting, which may be held over for a second day.

The AL clubowners first must solve internal problems concerning possible realignment before they can tackle the expansion movement. They are pretty much in agreement regarding Los Angeles.

The rub, however, is in the manner of acquisition. One group, headed by Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox, wants the league to grant an open franchise to LA, along with Dallas-Fort Worth.

Another faction, headed by Dan Topping of the New York Yankees, would like to see the Kansas City franchise moved to Los Angeles, thus opening the way for the league to approve franchise to Minneapolis-St. Paul and Dallas-Fort Worth.

Hank Greenberg, vice-president of the White Sox, reportedly has been supporting a move on the part of owner Calvin Griffith to shift his Washington Senators to Minneapolis-St. Paul. Greenberg is anxious to take over the Washington franchise.

It takes a three-fourths vote to approve a franchise shift or the granting of a new franchise.

Giants Beat Japs

SAPPORO, Japan (AP)—Three runs in the seventh inning—two of them on a home run by Willie McCovey—gave the San Francisco Giants a 5-3 victory over the Japanese All-Stars today.

Tigers Marching To Scoring Mark

This week's district football schedule will be spread over three days, beginning with a set of three games Thursday night.

There will be no school for area students in Ohio Friday because of the annual state teachers' meetings.

Here's District Grid Schedule This Week

Thursday
Wellsville at Jefferson Union
Salem at Boardman
Springfield Local at Columbiana

Friday
St. Mary's at Chester
Midland at New Brighton
Leetonia at Lisbon
South Side at Northwestern
Poland at East Palestine

Saturday
East Liverpool at Steubenville Central
Newell at Salineville
New Cumberland at Mt. Pleasant
Stanton Local at Brilliant
Mineral Ridge at United
Beaver Local vs. Goshen Union at Salem 8 p. m. (DST)
Western Reserve at Fairfield-Waterford

Wellsville, Salem and Columbiana will get the ball rolling Thursday night.

With prospects of an unbeaten season erased because of a 10-0 defeat to highly-rated Salem last week, Wellsville's Tigers turn their attention to Jefferson Union Thursday night and will be eyeing a school scoring record.

The encounter with the Jackets at the Jefferson Union gridiron near Richmond has been switched from Friday because of the teachers' meeting. Kickoff is at 8 (DST).

Coach Ken Woods' Tigers (5-1-1) travel to JU at full strength and can figure on some stiff opposition if past meetings are any indication.

The Tigers need score only 10 points to become the second highest scoring club in Wellsville's history. The runner-up honor is held by the 1917 team that scored 220. This year's team has scored 211.

The all-time record is held by the 1930 Tiger squad that scored 240 points in winning eight and losing only one.

Jefferson Union (2-4) is considered a fairly fast squad, with an outstanding passer in quarterback Glenn Dickinson and a strong runner in halfback Ted Gillespie, 170-pound senior.

The Jackets lost their first three games of the year, 20-6 to Bellaire St. John's, 6-0 to unbeaten Follansbee St. Anthony, and 18-16 to also unbeaten Springfield.

The squad moved into stride later to whip Toronto, 12-6, and Mingo 30-0. The Jackets were beaten by Follansbee last week, 20-7.

Undefeated Salem, ranked eighth in this week's Ohio poll, looks for its eighth straght win at Boardman. The Quakers aren't expected to have any trouble with Boardman.

Columbiana, with four straight victories to its credit, plays host to Springfield.

Five games Friday shows Chester returning to action as St. Mary's invades Chester City Park.

The Panthers took last week off and Friday will be gunning for their third win in seven contests as they attempt to finish the season close to the .500 mark.

South Side rings down the curtain on the 1960 season Friday night. Coach Dave Nichol's Rams conclude their eight-game schedule against Northwestern at Darlington (Pa.).

South Side enters the game with a 2-5 mark.

Midland visits New Brighton seeking its second victory of the campaign. The Leopards have won over Monaca and have tied Rochester.

A game that will decide the Tri-County League championshp finds Poland at East Palestine. If the Bulldogs can get by Poland, it would mean their fifth straight Tri-County championship.

Both East Palestine and Poland are tied for the league lead.

Lisbon, which has come to life in winning its last two games, shoots for No. 3 when Leetonia visits the county seat Friday night.

Saturday is the big day in the district, with seven games scheduled.

The East Liverpool Potters, 20th ranked in the state and sporting a 5-2 record, travel to Steubenville for their annual battle with the Crusaders.

Steubenville is fresh from whipping a strong Cincinnati Elder eleven, 28-16.

Beaver Local faces its toughest test of the campaign Saturday night against Goshen Union. The game will be played under the lights at Salem's Reilly Stadium, beginning at 8.

New Cumberland will be looking for its third win when the Raiders travel to Mt. Pleasant.

In four afternoon games, Newell, winless in seven tilts, goes to Salineville, while Stanton Local, which has gained victories in its last four games, travels to Brilliant.

United entertains Mineral Ridge and Western Reserve moves into New Waterford for a battle with the dangerous Fairfield-Waterford Rebels.

New Mexico State Tops In Scoring And Offense

By The Associated Press

New Mexico State, the Border Conference powerhouse, leads the nation's major football teams in both scoring and total offense, stands fourth place in rushing and sixth in forward passing.

Warren Woodson's Aggies are clicking along at a 40.8 points-per-game average and have piled up a total of 2,585 yards for an average of 417.5 per game in their six victories, according to NCAA statistics released today.

Missouri is second in the points-per-game race with a 30.3 average.

Utah State is second in total offense with 2,888 yards.

DiMaggio Not Happy About Losing Mark

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Vince, the eldest of baseball's three DiMaggio brothers, thought over the question for a few seconds.

"Are you glad," he was asked, "that your record of striking out 134 times in a National League season has finally been broken?"

He answered:

"No, in a way no. As long as no one beat it, I would still be remembered."

A power batter—he hit four grand slam homers in the 1945 season—Vince was the National League member of his illustrious family. He played with the Boston Braves, Philadelphia Phillies and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Brother Joe gained Hall of Fame honors with the New York Yankees and Dom starred with the Boston Red Sox. Vince was good enough to stay in the majors until 1946.

In 1938, early in his major league career, Vince struck out 134 times while playing with the Braves. That was the major league mark until Jim Lemon of Washington struck out 138 times in 1958. Then in 1960, Philadelphia's Pancho Herrera erased DiMaggio's name in the National League books as he fanned for the 1330th time.

Westgate Tops Irish, 22-14

Westgate's seventh and eighth grade team handed St. Aloysius its second setback, 22-14, Tuesday at Patterson Field.

The Westgate scoring was recorded by three different backs.

Dick Deem went around right end for 16 yards in the first period, then Chuck Taylor hit off tackle from 7 yards away in the second quarter.

Denny Bush turned in a 66-yard TD gallop to cap the scoring in the fourth quarter. Taylor and Dean each added conversions for the winners.

Bob Brooks, leading scorer for the Irish, went 44 yards to pay-dirt in the opening period and Pat Chema scooted around the end for 10 yards and a TD in the final quarter. Chema added the lone conversion for the Irish.

El Reserve Team Gains Fourth Win

The East Liverpool reserves picked up their fourth win in five games Monday with a 14-0 win over Beaver.

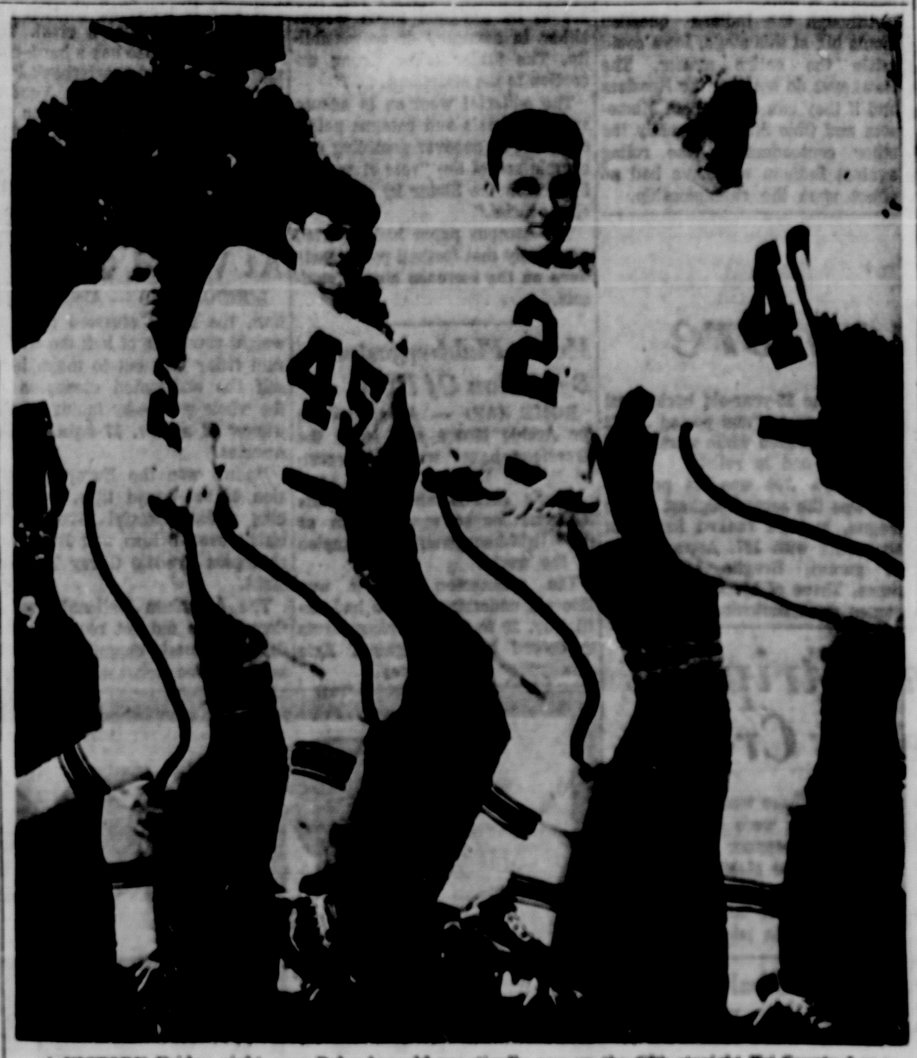

A blocked punt was turned into one touchdown early in the fourth quarter. As several Potter linemen blocked the punt, tackle Bob Parsons grabbed the ball in the air and raced 45 yards for the touchdown.

Gene Wolfe smacked over for the conversion to give East Liverpool an 8-0 lead.

In the fourth period, Len Oliver plunged over from the 1-yard line to cap the Potter scoring.

30 Pros Shatter Par

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Thirty professionals shattered par 72 as the third annual Hotel Sahara 54-hole golf tournament got under way with 60 competitors Tuesday. Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., topped the pro-amateur event with 68.

A VICTORY Friday night over Poland would practically sew up the fifth straight Tri-County League title for the East Palestine Bulldogs. Coach Howard Weyers will be counting on these four backfield standouts, left-to-right: Jim Wisser, Willard Leake, Jack Istnick and Jerry Bush, who is second leading scorer in the district. East Palestine and Poland are tied for the league lead with 4-0 records.

Buckeyes Are Underdogs

Syracuse Is Picked Over Pitt, Hawkeyes Favored

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Baseball League today was expected to stake its claim in Los Angeles at a meeting designed to expand the circuit to 10 clubs in time for the 1962 season.

Los Angeles, together with Dallas-Fort Worth and Minneapolis-St. Paul, are regarded as the only cities among a dozen applicants being considered seriously for the ninth and 10th franchises.

The National League nine days ago beat its junior rival to the gun by grabbing Houston and New York in the first expansion move in the majors in 62 years. The American League voted last month to expand to 10 teams, too.

While the NL had a comparatively easy time coming to unanimous agreement, the American was expected to be engaged in a long, drawn-out debate regarding Los Angeles. It was highly possible no decision would be reached at this meeting, which may be held over for a second day.

The AL clubowners first must solve internal problems concerning possible realignment before they can tackle the expansion movement. They are pretty much in agreement regarding Los Angeles.

The rub, however, is in the manner of acquisition. One group, headed by Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox, wants the league to grant an open franchise to LA, along with Dallas-Fort Worth.

Another faction, headed by Dan Topping of the New York Yankees, would like to see the Kansas City franchise moved to Los Angeles, thus opening the way for the league to approve franchise to Minneapolis-St. Paul and Dallas-Fort Worth.

Hank Greenberg, vice-president of the White Sox, reportedly has been supporting a move on the part of owner Calvin Griffith to shift his Washington Senators to Minneapolis-St. Paul. Greenberg is anxious to take over the Washington franchise.

It takes a three-fourths vote to approve a franchise shift or the granting of a new franchise.

Giants Beat Japs

SAPPORO, Japan (AP)—Three runs in the seventh inning—two of them on a home run by Willie McCovey—gave the San Francisco Giants a 5-3 victory over the Japanese All-Stars today.

Tigers Marching To Scoring Mark

This week's district football schedule will be spread over three days, beginning with a set of three games Thursday night.

There will be no school for area students in Ohio Friday because of the annual state teachers' meetings.

Here's District Grid Schedule This Week

Thursday

Wellsville at Jefferson Union
Salem at Boardman
Springfield Local at Columbiana

Friday

St. Mary's at Chester
Midland at New Brighton
Leetonia at Lisbon
South Side at Northwestern
Poland at East Palestine

Saturday

East Liverpool at Steubenville Central
Newell at Salineville
New Cumberland at Mt. Pleasant
Stanton Local at Brilliant
Mineral Ridge at United
Beaver Local vs. Goshen Union at Salem 8 p. m. (DST)
Western Reserve at Fairfield-Waterford

Wellsville, Salem and Columbiana will get the ball rolling Thursday night.

With prospects of an unbeaten season erased because of a 10-0 defeat to highly-rated Salem last week, Wellsville's Tigers turn their attention to Jefferson Union Thursday night and will be eyeing a school scoring record.

The encounter with the Jackets at the Jefferson Union gridiron near Richmond has been switched from Friday because of the teachers' meeting. Kickoff is at 8 (DST).

Coach Ken Woods' Tigers (5-1-1) travel to JU at full strength and can figure on some stiff opposition if past meetings are any indication.

The Tigers need score only 10 points to become the second highest scoring club in Wellsville's history. The runner-up honor is held by the 1917 team that scored 220. This year's team has scored 211.

The all-time record is held by the 1930 Tiger squad that scored 240 points in winning eight and losing only one.

Jefferson Union (2-4) is considered a fairly fast squad, with an outstanding passer in quarterback Glenn Dickinson and a strong runner in halfback Ted Gillespie, 170-pound senior.

The Jackets lost their first three games of the year, 20-6 to Bellaire St. John's, 6-0 to unbeaten Follansbee St. Anthony, and 18-16 to also unbeaten Springfield.

The squad moved into stride later to whip Toronto, 12-6, and Mingo 30-0. The Jackets were beaten by Follansbee last week, 20-7.

Undefeated Salem, ranked eighth in this week's Ohio poll, looks for its eighth straight win at Boardman. The Quakers aren't expected to have any trouble with Boardman.

Columbiana, with four straight victories to its credit, plays host to Springfield.

Five games Friday shows Chester returning to action as St. Mary's invades Chester City Park.

The Panthers took last week off and Friday will be gunning for their third win in seven contests as they attempt to finish the season close to the .500 mark.

South Side rings down the curtain on the 1960 season Friday night. Coach Dave Nichol's Rams conclude their eight-game schedule against Northwestern at Darlington (Pa.).

South Side enters the game with a 2-5 mark.

Midland visits New Brighton seeking its second victory of the campaign. The Leopards have won over Monaca and have tied Rochester.

A game that will decide the Tri-County League championshp finds Poland at East Palestine. If the Bulldogs can get by Poland, it would mean their fifth straight Tri-County championship.

Both East Palestine and Poland are tied for the league lead.

Lisbon, which has come to life in winning its last two games, shoots for No. 3 when Leetonia visits the county seat Friday night.

Saturday is the big day in the district, with seven games scheduled.

The East Liverpool Potters, 20th ranked in the state and sporting a 5-2 record, travel to Steubenville for their annual battle with the Crusaders.

Steubenville is fresh from whipping a strong Cincinnati Elder eleven, 28-16.

Beaver Local faces its toughest test of the campaign Saturday night against Goshen Union. The game will be played under the lights at Salem's Reilly Stadium, beginning at 8.

New Cumberland will be looking for its third win when the Raiders travel to Mt. Pleasant.

In four afternoon games, Newell, winless in seven tilts, goes to Salineville, while Stanton Local, which has gained victories in its last four games, travels to Brilliant.

United entertains Mineral Ridge and Western Reserve moves into New Waterford for a battle with the dangerous Fairfield-Waterford Rebels.

Browns Rate 10-Point Edge Over Redskins

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mike McCormack, mainstay of the Cleveland Browns for seven seasons at offensive tackle and in his fourth year as captain, thinks Sunday's game in Washington will be the true test for this year's young team.

"Browns teams I've been on in the past bounced right back" after being down from loss of a tough game such as the 31-29 defeat here last Sunday by Philadelphia, McCormack said.

"We know we have eight games left to make up for that one," McCormack continued. "We can start against the Redskins."

The Browns will be favored by 10 points over Washington, and a victory would assure them of pulling even with the Philadelphia Eagles, who will be idle. The Eagles, now second in the Eastern Conference, and the New York Giants, conference leaders and defending titlists, still have to bump into one another for two games.

The Browns had the usual day off Tuesday, but get back to work again today.

"We'll talk over the errors in Sunday's game and then cross it off and start getting ready for the Redskins," Brown said.

He said he wasn't charging one of those errors to Vince Costello because of the interference call which let Philadelphia keep the ball in the drive to its game-winning field goal. A look at the motion pictures convinced Brown that the Eagle receiver, Ted Dean, bumped into Costello.

National Football League statistics released today show the Browns with the top rusher and passer.

Fullback Jim Brown's 167 yards against Philadelphia gave him a 432-yard total, 48 yards more than second-place John Crow of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Milt Plum's 74.5 percentage in pass completions and 14-yard average gain per pass are the league's best, and he is the only quarterback who hasn't had a pass intercepted.

Indiana's Foes Punished More Than The Hoosiers

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Ppress Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—When the Big Ten took action against Indiana last summer for alleged recruiting violations, it decided to punish the Hoosiers by not counting their 1960 football games in the conference standings.

With the season more than half over, Indiana's opponents are being punished far more than the Hoosiers.

Indiana has played three Big Ten games and lost them all. Those suffering most from the ruling today are Illinois, Minnesota and Michigan State—all of whom defeated the Hoosiers handily.

Because of the no-count rule, Illinois and Michigan State appear out as title contenders since they have been defeated in other games. And Minnesota, instead of being tied with Iowa (4-0) for the league lead, is second with a 3-0 record.

Indiana coach Phil Dickens, admitting that Indiana foes are being unduly punished, says the ruling also has had a damaging effect on the morale of his players.

"Our boys have been reading about the 'no-count Hoosiers' and 'illegal recruiting' and finally it has becoming damaging," says Dickens.

The team hurt most by the ruling is Michigan State, according to Spartan coach Duffy Daugherty. At best, Michigan State can finish with a 4-1 record, hardly enough to win the Big Ten title. But by counting the Indiana game, MSU could finish with a 5 - 1 mark. Daugherty feels every team in the league will lose at least one game and a 5-1 record could put the Spartans in line for the title or possibly a tie.

Although the Indiana question looms big at this stage, Iowa could settle the entire matter. The Hawkeyes do not play the Hoosiers and if they can defeat both Minnesota and Ohio State—presently the other contenders — the ruling against Indiana will have had no effect upon the championship.

Cards' Pitching Ace

Broglio Top Sophomore

NEW YORK (AP)—Ernie Broglio, unimpressive as a rookie with the St. Louis Cardinals a year ago, today was named the National League Sophomore of the Year.

The big right-hander, a 21-game winner, was an overwhelming choice in the annual Associated Press poll of baseball writers. He received 165 of the 189 votes cast.

Shortstop Maury Wills of Los Angeles was second with 20 votes. Outfielder-first baseman George Altman of Chicago, and pitchers Jim O'Toole and Jay Hook of Cincinnati and Larry Sherry of Los Angeles each collected one vote.

Broglio really arrived after last year's 7-12 won-lost record and 4.72 earned run average as a rookie. The 25-year-old hurler lost only nine games and posted a 2.75 ERA this season while working as a starter and in relief.

Broglio's .700 won-lost percentage was the second highest in the league, and he ranked fourth in strikeouts with 187. Appearing in 52 games, Broglio started 24 times. Three of his nine complete games were shutouts.

3 Ohio Teams Eye Michigan

DETROIT (AP) — Ohio invades Michigan for three football games this weekend, and teams from the Buckeye State are favored to capture three victories.

Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty told the state football writers Tuesday that his Spartans will need their best effort of the season to stay even with Ohio State Saturday at East Lansing.

Ohio University is heavily favored to topple Western Michigan, and Western Reserve is a touchdown choice over Wayne State.

Wilbur Snypp, the Ohio State publicist, told the football writers' association: "Michigan State is the only team with an edge over Woody Hayes in his 10 seasons as coach at Ohio State, and he's anxious to even the score."

The Spartans have won two of three games since Hayes took over, but this is the first time an Ohio State football team has visited the Michigan State campus.

Ohio's one-two punch of quarterback Tom Matte and fullback Bob Ferguson is a formidable offense. The two have carried the ball 176 times—the other 13 Ohio backs have carried the ball only 86 times in all.

Ferguson is averaging 5.7 yards and Matte 4.8. Matte also has completed 26 of 44 passes for 409 yards and four touchdowns.

Ohio still is largely a ground team, but the Buckeyes have thrown 51 passes in five games and have had only three intercepted. Their defense, meanwhile, has picked off 10 enemy passes in running up four victories against a single loss.

A sellout throng of 76,000 is assured for Michigan State's homecoming game.

Ohio University, Ohio State's "little brother" school some 75 miles to the south, invades Kalamazoo in a Mid-American Conference clash against Western Michigan.

Western Reserve of Ohio has walloped three Presidents' Conference foes, but Wayne State of Michigan has a chance to throw the league race into a four-way tie for first place.

Archie Moore Stripped Of Light-Heavy Crown

CLEVELAND (AP) — The National Boxing Association has stretched a long arm across the Atlantic to snatch its light-heavyweight crown from the balding brow of Archie Moore who won it in 1952.

Moore failed to meet a 30-day time limit the NBA set Sept. 6 to complete arrangements for defense of his title against Eric Schoeppner of Germany, David Ott, NBA president, said.

Moore, who lists his age at 43 but whose mother lists it at 47, now is in Rome preparing to fight a nontitle 10-rounder Saturday night against Giulio Rinaldi of Italy.

Archie has defended his title eight times, the last time scoring a third-round knockout of Yvon Durelle of Canada on Aug. 12, 1959.

This is the second time this year the NBA has stripped Moore of championship recognition for failing to meet Schoeppner. Now, the NBA said, elimination matches will be held to find a new light-heavyweight titleholder. Schoeppner rates behind Harold Johnson of Philadelphia and Chick Calderwood of Scotland on the NBA's list of contenders.

The NBA took back Moore's 175-pound division crown Feb. 15, but restored it three weeks later when arrangements were completed for a Moore-Schoeppner title bout in Toronto. Those plans fell through when, after a time extension to enable Archie to make the weight limit, a deal on television fizzled.

Report Irks School Paper

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Kent State University's undergraduate newspaper has criticized university president George A. Bowman for an alleged slight in connection with the paper's account of football pool operations.

The newspaper, the Kent Stater, noted that Bowman was quoted in two Ohio daily newspaper as saying, "The only report I have of gambling came from the student newspaper. Bear in mind that it is a student newspaper."

In an editorial, the Kent Stater remarked, "The obvious implication is that the Stater's report was not to be assigned much weight either in accuracy or responsibility. The Stater takes strong exception to the statement. . . ."

The editorial went on to accuse school officials and campus police of failing to uncover gambling and complained of the "vote of no confidence in the Stater by a university official."

The campus paper had reported previously that football pool tickets were on the increase among students.

Moore Flabbergasted By Action Of NBA

ROME (AP) — A spokesman for Archie Moore said today the American boxer was flabbergasted by the National Boxing Association's announcement that the NBA no longer regards him as the light-heavyweight champion of the world.

The spokesman said it was Moore's understanding he had until Nov. 29 to make arrangements to defend his title against Eric Schoeppner of Germany.

Potter Coach Reports On Fast Central Backs

East Liverpool's aggressive Potters will be confronted by two of the fastest halfbacks all season Saturday night against Steubenville Central Catholic, Coach Lou Venditti told the Blue and White Nonpareil Club Tuesday night in the YMCA.

Venditti, who saw Coach John Baroni's Crusaders (4-2) in action last week when the toppled highly-touted Cincinnati Elder, 28-16, named halfbacks Tom Erosovich and Jerry France as speedsters the Potters must contain.

The quick-hitting Crusaders have lost only to top-rated Weirton and Bellaire St. John's, a rival. The Central squad also has a hard-running fullback and quarterback Paul Kenny also is a threat, Venditti said. Kenny has missed action the last three weeks because of injuries but may return against the Potters.

The Potters again will be outweighed on the line, with Central possessing heft in two tackles weighing over 200 pounds each. "I expect a real hard game," Venditti told the club.

Venditti said he was pleased with the Potters' passing attack in last week's 28-0 victory over Struthers. Movies of the game revealed a terrific pass defending effort by senior Craig O'Neil, outstanding pass receiving by end Mike Geon and punishing tackles of quarterback Ken Cunningham on whom Struthers concentrated its efforts in bidding for an upset.

Ralph Musuraca, president, conducted brief business. Tickets were sold for the Central game in Steubenville.

European Bantam Champ Eyes Shot At World Crown

LONDON (AP) — Alphonse Halimi, the newly crowned bantamweight champion of half the world, said today he's out to make himself the undisputed champion of the whole world—by taking on the winner of a Nov. 17 fight in Los Angeles.

Halimi won the European version of the world title by grabbing a controversial 15-round decision over British and European champion Freddie Gilroy Tuesday night.

The American National Boxing Commission did not recognize the fight as a world championship and said the one between Eder Jofre of Brazil and Eloy Sanchez, Mexico in Los Angeles Nov. 17 would be for the world title.

The confusion over the world title arose by the retirement of Mexican Jose Becerra.

Belgian referee Philippe de Backer gave Halimi, the 28-year-old French-Algerian, the verdict over Gilroy, despite the views of most ringside observers that the 24-year-old Irishman had done enough to win.

The Associated Press card gave seven rounds to Gilroy, five to Halimi, with the remander even.

Halimi, world bantamweight champion between April 1957, and July 1959, scored the only real knockdown of the fight. In the 13th round he landed a short right hook that floored Gilroy. The count reached four, then the bell saved the Irishman.

Senior Women's Golf Event Opens

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Both former winners and two greats of another era were in the field of 220 today as the third annual North and South Women's Senior Golf Tournament began.

Mrs. Charles Bartholomew of Brookline, Mass., is defending her title in the two-day, 36-hole stroke play event.

Mrs. Harrison Flippin of Ardmore, Pa., who won the inaugural two years ago; Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N.C.; and Maureen Orcutt of Englewood, N.J., are among the chief challengers.

Mrs. Page, virtually retired from competition, was second here last fall. She was national champion in 1937 and won the North and South Amateur here seven times. Miss Orcutt won three North and South Amateur titles.

Browns Rate 10-Point Edge Over Redskins

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mike McCormack, mainstay of the Cleveland Browns for seven seasons at offensive tackle and in his fourth year as captain, thinks Sunday's game in Washington will be the true test for this year's young team.

"Browns teams I've been on in the past bounced right back" after being down from loss of a tough game such as the 31-29 defeat here last Sunday by Philadelphia, McCormack said.

"We know we have eight games left to make up for that one," McCormack continued. "We can start against the Redskins."

The Browns will be favored by 10 points over Washington, and a victory would assure them of pulling even with the Philadelphia Eagles, who will be idle. The Eagles, now second in the Eastern Conference, and the New York Giants, conference leaders and defending titlists, still have to bump into one another for two games.

The Browns had the usual day off Tuesday, but get back to work again today.

"We'll talk over the errors in Sunday's game and then cross it off and start getting ready for the Redskins," Brown said.

He said he wasn't charging one of these errors to Vince Costello because of the interference call which let Philadelphia keep the ball in the drive to its game-winning field goal. A look at the motion pictures convinced Brown that the Eagle receiver, Ted Dean, bumped into Costello.

National Football League statistics released today show the Browns with the top rusher and passer.

Fullback Jim Brown's 167 yards against Philadelphia gave him a 422-yard total, 49 yards more than second-place John Crow of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Milt Plum's 74.5 percentage in pass completions and 14-yard average gain per pass are the league's best, and he is the only quarterback who hasn't had a pass intercepted.

Indiana's Foes Punished More Than The Hoosiers

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Ppress Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—When the Big Ten took action against Indiana last summer for alleged recruiting violations, it decided to punish the Hoosiers by not counting their 1960 football games in the conference standings.

With the season more than half over, Indiana's opponents are being punished far more than the Hoosiers.

Indiana has played three Big Ten games and lost them all. Those suffering most from the ruling today are Illinois, Minnesota and Michigan State—all of whom defeated the Hoosiers handily.

Because of the no-count rule, Illinois and Michigan State appear out as title contenders since they have been defeated in other games. And Minnesota, instead of being tied with Iowa (4-0) for the league lead, is second with a 3-0 record.

Indiana coach Phil Dickens, admitting that Indiana foes are being unduly punished, says the ruling also has had a damaging effect on the morale of his players.

"Our boys have been reading about the 'no-count Hoosiers' and 'illegal recruiting' and finally it has becoming damaging," says Dickens.

The team hurt most by the ruling is Michigan State, according to Spartan coach Duffy Daugherty. At best, Michigan State can finish with a 4-1 record, hardly enough to win the Big Ten title. But by counting the Indiana game, MSU could finish with a 5 - 1 mark. Daugherty feels every team in the league will lose at least one game and a 5-1 record could put the Spartans in line for the title or possibly a tie.

Although the Indiana question looms big at this stage, Iowa could settle the entire matter. The Hawkeyes do not play the Hoosiers and if they can defeat both Minnesota and Ohio State—presently the other contenders — the ruling against Indiana will have had no effect upon the championship.

Cards' Pitching Ace

Broglio Top Sophomore

NEW YORK (AP)—Ernie Broglio, unimpressive as a rookie with the St. Louis Cardinals a year ago, today was named the National League Sophomore of the Year.

The big right-hander, a 21-game winner, was an overwhelming choice in the annual Associated Press poll of baseball writers. He received 165 of the 189 votes cast.

Shortstop Maury Wills of Los Angeles was second with 20 votes. Outfielder-first baseman George Altman of Chicago, and pitchers Jim O'Toole and Jay Hook of Cincinnati and Larry Sherry of Los Angeles each collected one vote.

Broglio really arrived after last year's 7-12 won-lost record and 4.72 earned run average as a rookie. The 25-year-old hurler lost only nine games and posted a 2.75 ERA this season while working as a starter and in relief.

Broglio's .700 won-lost percentage was the second highest in the league, and he ranked fourth in strikeouts with 187. Appearing in 52 games, Broglio started 24 times. Three of his nine complete games were shutouts.

3 Ohio Teams Eye Michigan

DETROIT (AP) — Ohio invades Michigan for three football games this weekend, and teams from the Buckeye State are favored to capture three victories.

Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty told the state football writers Tuesday that his Spartans will need their best effort of the season to stay even with Ohio State Saturday at East Lansing.

Ohio University is heavily favored to topple Western Michigan, and Western Reserve is a touchdown choice over Wayne State.

Wilbur Snypp, the Ohio State publicist, told the football writers' association: "Michigan State is the only team with an edge over Woody Hayes in his 10 seasons as coach at Ohio State, and he's anxious to even the score."

The Spartans have won two of three games since Hayes took over, but this is the first time an Ohio State football team has visited the Michigan State campus.

Ohio's one-two punch of quarterback Tom Matte and fullback Bob Ferguson is a formidable offense. The two have carried the ball 176 times—the other 13 Ohio backs have carried the ball only 85 times in all.

Ferguson is averaging 5.7 yards and Matte 4.8. Matte also has completed 26 of 44 passes for 469 yards and four touchdowns.

Ohio still is largely a ground team, but the Buckeyes have thrown 51 passes in five games and have had only three intercepted. Their defense, meanwhile, has picked off 10 enemy passes in running up four victories against a single loss.

A sellout throng of 76,000 is assured for Michigan State's homecoming game.

Ohio University, Ohio State's "little brother" school some 75 miles to the south, invades Kalamazoo in a Mid-American Conference clash against Western Michigan.

Western Reserve of Ohio has walloped three Presidents' Conference foes, but Wayne State of Michigan has a chance to throw the league race into a four-way tie for first place.

Archie Moore Stripped Of Light-Heavy Crown

CLEVELAND (AP) — The National Boxing Association has stretched a long arm across the Atlantic to snatch its light-heavyweight crown from the balding brow of Archie Moore who won it in 1952.

Moore failed to meet a 30-day time limit the NBA set Sept. 6 to complete arrangements for defense of his title against Eric Schoeppner of Germany, David Ott, NBA president, said.

Moore, who lists his age at 43 but whose mother lists it at 47, now is in Rome preparing to fight a nontitle 10-rounder Saturday night against Giulio Rinaldi of Italy.

Archie has defended his title eight times, the last time scoring a third-round knockout of Yvon Durelle of Canada on Aug. 12, 1959.

This is the second time this year the NBA has stripped Moore of championship recognition for failing to meet Schoeppner. Now, the NBA said, elimination matches will be held to find a new light-heavyweight titleholder. Schoeppner rates behind Harold Johnson of Philadelphia and Chick Calderwood of Scotland on the NBA's list of contenders.

The NBA took back Moore's 175-pound division crown Feb. 15, but restored it three weeks later when arrangements were completed for a Moore-Schoeppner title bout in Toronto. Those plans fell through when, after a time extension to enable Archie to make the weight limit, a deal on television fizzled.

Navy Star Is Selected College Back-Of-Week

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Bellino, Navy's dazzling halfback who set a modern scoring record for a Middie football player when he tallied two touchdowns against Pennsylvania, edged out New Mexico State halfback Bob Gaiters today as the Associated Press back of the week.

Gaiters and Bellino are the two leading major college scorers, the New Mexico star leading with 92 points on 15 touchdowns and two conversions.

Bellino led unbeaten Navy to its sixth straight victory, a 27-0 decision over Penn.

In scoring twice, one a 26-yard romp, the 187-pound Bellino from Winchester, Mass., boosted his season TD total to 11. This, with a 2-point conversion, gives him 68 points, eight better than the 1934 Navy record of Buzz Borries.

In 16 rushes Bellino gained 85 yards net, caught three passes for 62 yards, booted a 53-yard quick kick and brought back two punts for 35 yards.

Gaiters, also the national leader in rushing, scored three touchdowns as New Mexico State defeated Wichita—co-leader of the Missouri Valley Conference—40-8.

The New Mexico back gained 107 yards rushing, boosting his total to 836 yards, placing him No. 7 in total offense.

Newell Man Lands Buck On Hancock County Farm

Employing guerrilla-styled tactics of camouflage and point of vantage, William C. McIntosh of Newell killed this six-point buck Tuesday morning on a Hancock County farm.

McIntosh bagged the deer with a steel-tipped, barbed arrow fired from a 50-pound test bow as he perched in an apple tree on a farm south of Newell along Route 66.

His camouflage suit, similar to those worn by guerrillas in the war, made him nearly indistinguishable among the multi-colored fall leaves.

The unsuspecting deer walked directly underneath the tree, providing a good target for McIntosh to fire an arrow into its spine from a distance of 15-feet, killing it almost instantly. McIntosh said the arrow penetrated a distance of 18 inches.

The deer, an 180-pounder, was one of the first to be killed in the county since the bow and arrow season opened Oct. 1.

McIntosh, 23-year-old Crucible Steel Co. worker, will mount the horns and dress the carcass for venison steaks. He is a member of the Beaver Kettle Bowmen's Club.

Plum, Brown Set Pace In Passing, Rushing

NEW YORK (AP) — Milt Plum of the Cleveland Browns, who hasn't had one of his tosses intercepted all season, leads the National Football League passers, and his teammate, Jimmy Brown, heads the ground gaining race.

Official league statistics released today show that Plum, former Penn State signal caller, has completed 41 passes, good for 770 yards (including six touchdowns) and shows an average gain of 14 yards per pass.

Brown, who was in second place in the rushing race for two weeks, climbed back to the top with 432 yards in 72 attempts for an average of 6 yards a try.

Titans Sign Tackle Larry Baker Of Ohio

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Titans of the American Football League have signed Larry Baker, an offensive tackle from Bowling Green of Ohio. He will arrive in time for the Titans' game against the Oakland Raiders at the Polo Grounds Friday night.

To make room for the 6-2, 247-pound Baker, from Shelby, Ohio, the Titans dropped Ernest Barnes, also an offensive tackle.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

There was quite a definite decrease in the number of duck hunters out on opening day in Columbiana County. Could be because the section of Guilford swamps where the most ducks can be found was under private control this year.

There were approximately 300 ducks on the Salem Reservoir and the majority were mallards, both greenheads and blacks. Not a shot was fired until 10 minutes after the season opened.

The reason for no shooting at the exact legal hour was because of the few "duck conservationists". They could be referred to as "conservationists" as soon as they began to march down the shore line, toss out the decoys, walk out in the open to get to the blinds while the last duck that would have been in shooting ranges took off.

—:—

TO FURTHER the conservation of ducks, the "sky-blazers" went into action, preventing ducks getting within shooting range.

One thing for sure, the duck hunters in this area have practically nothing to do with the shortage of ducks.

The flight ducks that stopped at the reservoir were blue and greenwing teal. None had traveled far from their nesting grounds, since they had plump breasts in contrast to ducks who fly several hundred miles from their Canadian nesting grounds. The flight ducks are easy to recognize, since they have a sharp breast with the center bone very much in evidence. If they fly a great distance, they train down to bone and muscle so to speak.

The first half of the split season on ducks will end at sundown Nov. 24. On Dec. 23 the season will open again at 12 noon and end at sundown Dec. 31. The goose season will come in on the 20th and run straight through to Dec. 28 at sundown. Only thing about that as far as this county is concerned is: Where are the geese?

LAST YEAR there were 32 Canadian geese on the reservoir on opening day, but none this year. Of the 32 geese, about 17 of them were taken by the hunters. The reason I say 17 were taken was because I counted the flock each day until those remaining finally took off.

Normally, a few geese stop in this area during their southward migration and it is reasonable to assume some will stop off before the season ends. Also, we should get our normal share of flight ducks sooner or later.

Three cock pheasants flew up into an old dead tree when the shooting began after being scared out of the cattails. Pheasants do not normally perch or roost in trees, but on occasion this happens when they are disturbed on the ground by various animals, in this case by man.

New Mexico Coach Accepted Big Challenge That Paid Off

By JIM IRWIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS CRUCES, N. M. (AP) — When Warren Woodson came to New Mexico State in 1958 he tread where angels and most football coaches feared to trod. He also predicted a winner within three years.

That was saying a lot for a school which hadn't had a winning football season since 1938 and had won only 29 games in the previous 13 seasons.

It's three years later and Woodson's Aggies are unbeaten in six games this season and are working on a 10-game winning streak.

"We have one of the outstanding football teams in the nation," Woodson says.

One reason is the recruiting Woodson did during his first year. He recruited smart football players — a change for a school which had tried to build football teams from collegiate castoffs.

His stars include halfbacks Bob Gaiters and Pervis Atkins and quarterback Charley Johnson.

Gaiters, the tailback in Woodson's wing-T formation, leads the nation in rushing and scoring with 856 yards and 92 points.

Atkins, drafted last year by the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League, was 1959's national leader in scoring and rushing while playing wingback. This year he's fourth in scoring.

Johnson is the nation's No. 3 passer with 67 completions for 868 yards and ranks fifth in total offense with 920 yards.

Winning isn't new to Woodson. At Texarkana (Tex.) junior college he twice won the Texas JC championship.

Rigney May Be Named Manager At Detroit

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Rigney, who was fired as manager of the San Francisco Giants last June, may be installed as pilot of the Detroit Tigers within a month.

The Associated Press learned Tuesday that Rigney, who led the Giants to two straight third place finishes before he was let go, applied for the vacant Detroit job during the World Series.

The Tigers have been without a manager since early this month when Joe Gordon resigned.

Navy Star Is Selected College Back-Of-Week

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Bellino, Navy's dazzling halfback who set a modern scoring record for a Middie football player when he tallied two touchdowns against Pennsylvania, edged out New Mexico State halfback Bob Gaiters today as the Associated Press back of the week.

Gaiters and Bellino are the two leading major college scorers, the New Mexico star leading with 92 points on 15 touchdowns and two conversions.

Bellino led unbeaten Navy to its sixth straight victory, a 27-0 decision over Penn.

In scoring twice, one a 26-yard romp, the 187-pound Bellino from Winchester, Mass., boosted his season TD total to 11. This, with a 2-point conversion, gives him 68 points, eight better than the 1934 Navy record of Buzz Borries.

In 16 rushes Bellino gained 85 yards net, caught three passes for 62 yards, booted a 53-yard quick kick and brought back two punts for 35 yards.

Gaiters, also the national leader in rushing, scored three touchdowns as New Mexico State defeated Wichita—co-leader of the Missouri Valley Conference—40-8.

The New Mexico back gained 107 yards rushing, boosting his total to 836 yards, placing him No. 7 in total offense.

Other sparkling backfield performances across the nation included those by North Carolina State quarterback Roman Gabriel, Terry Baker, Oregon State tailback; Ohio State's Tom Matte; Larry Libertore, Florida quarterback; Bucknell quarterback Paul Terhes; Coolidge Hunt, Texas Tech fullback, and Minnesota's Jim Rogers.

Third Division Begins Appeal In Fund Drive

The Public Affairs Division of the Community Fund campaign, swung into action yesterday, with about 40 workers setting out to solicit gifts from the area's governmental and public service institutions employes.

An estimated 1,000 will be contacted through this division.

Headed by Paul Blair, assistant superintendent of East Liverpool public schools, the division already has begun solicitations in local hospitals and schools, the two largest of the nine units in the division. Working toward a divisional quota of $3,000, the group hopes to complete its duties by Nov. 1.

Since his arrival here in 1954, Blair has been active in many local organizations, aside from his educational affiliations. He currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Columbiana County Public Health League, the County Mental Health Association and the Child Counseling Center. He is vice president of the local Kiwanis Club and a past-president of the Civic Music Association and has assisted in many Community Fund campaigns.

Team captains and the units they head in the Public Affairs Division are:

Mayor Bert Goodballet and Mrs. Marion Gerace, city employes; Miss Frances Jones, library employes; Mrs. Edna Jones, City Hospital and Osteopathic Hospital staffs; Ralph W. Betts, East Liverpool schools staff; Harry Densmore, U.S. employment bureau employes; Judge Louis Tobin, local employes at county courthouse; Samuel Brown and Rowland Kaufmann, post office employes; Irving Vorndran, employes of four recruiting offices: state liquor store and Board of Elections; Harry McConville — Internal Revenue Department local staff.

The work of this division is the third phase of the local campaign. The Special Gifts Division opened its solicitation Monday and the Mercantile unit began yesterday, bringing to 100 the number of active workers already in the field.

By the time other divisions receive and distribute their campaign supplies, an estimated 700 or 800 volunteers will be working on the drive, according to William A. Black, campaign chairman.

Black today urged all solicitors to turn in their reports promptly so "Red Feather Kid" awards may be displayed by winners. To qualify for the award, business or industrial firms, or departments in any institution, having five or more employes, must turn in minimum pledges or gifts of $6 from each of 80 per cent of their employes. As soon as reports are turned in, the "Red Feather Kid" display will be available to winners.

HOSPITAL SOLICITATION BEGINS. Volunteer fund workers "knocked on the door" at City Hospital as the Public Affairs Division swung into action in the Community Fund campaign. In the photo are Mrs. Sally Crawford, a registered nurse; Miss Nell Robinson, superintendent of the hospital; Mrs. Edna Jones, in charge of the medical unit of the Public Affairs Division, and Paul Blair, division chairman.

Nixon Declares Truman To Blame For Any U.S. Lag

CINCINNATI (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon says the Truman administration is to blame for any American lag behind Russia in intercontinental missiles.

In a position paper on space released Tuesday, the Republican presidential nominee repeated previous GOP charges that the United States made no effort under the Truman administration to match Russian missile developments.

Democrats have said the decision was made that rockets could not carry the then tremendously bulky nuclear warheads and it was not until after a breakthrough to lighter nuclear loads that missiles became practical as carriers.

Nixon said his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, was attempting "to hitch his political wagon to the Soviet Sputnik, charging that the Eisenhower administration is allowing the Soviets to outdistance us in the exploration of space."

"It is irresponsibility of the worst sort for an American presidential candidate to obscure the truth about America's magnificant achievements in space in an attempt to win votes," Nixon said.

The Republican nominee said that of 34 space satellites and probes successfully launched the United States has sent up 26.

Continuance Granted In Knife Assault Case

Acting Municipal Judge Robert A. Kapp today granted a defense motion for a continuance until Nov. 7 at 9 a. m. in the hearing for a 32-year-old woman charged with assault with a deadly weapon as the aftermath of an incident Oct. 19 in a Dresden Ave. tavern.

The continuance was requested by Atty. Bernard Fineman, counsel for Miss Thelma Hayes, 233 W. 9th St., charged in connection with knife wounds suffered by Mrs. Helen Webster, 38, of 403 Harrison St., Newell, in a fight at Roy's Bar.

Burns Prove Fatal

Columbus Girl Rather Excited About Note Found

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Help," said the note. "July 5, 1960. The finder of this message please contact the following: Marilyn Golden, 1154 Linwood Ave., Columbus, Ohio, U.S.A. . . ."

The message was found and Miss Golden is a rather excited young lady.

The message, in a champagne bottle, was found this week by W. J. Willis, chief forester for a Jarratt, Va., manufacturer. He was fishing along the North Carolina coast.

Miss Golden, a secretary at radio station WBNS here, said she wrote the note aboard the S.S. Santa Paula while on a cruise last July. She put the note in the bottle following the traditional captain's dinner and tossed it overboard.

"I was full of the romance of South America and I never expected anyone to find it," she said Tuesday. The ship was about 300 miles from the coast.

Willis also stands to collect $5 for his trouble. The note offered such a reward. Asked if she was going to send the money to Willis, Miss Golden said:

"Oh, sure. But I'm going to wait for him to write and ask for it."

Cleveland Soldier Is Convicted Of Murder, Robbery

JUNCTION CITY, Kan. (AP)—A soldier from Cleveland, Ohio, has been convicted of first-degree murder and first-degree robbery.

Sentencing of Donald W. Volbrecht, 22, from Ft. Riley, Kan., was deferred because attorneys said they would seek a new trial.

Volbrecht was charged with the robbery slaying of Anthony Trocone, 47, a filling station attendant last Feb. 6. The soldier was arrested in Cleveland in March.

A psychiatric report entered in testimony noted that Volbrecht had been mentally ill for years but "despite the severe degree of mental illness which this patient shows, he is well enough aware of the circumstances surrounding the crime he is now charged with, the trial procedure and possible consequences, to be able to comprehend his position and aid in making his own defense."

County Atty. Robert L. Deam said he would not ask the death penalty because of this testimony.

Third Division Begins Appeal In Fund Drive

The Public Affairs Division of the Community Fund campaign, swung into action yesterday, with about 40 workers setting out to solicit gifts from the area's governmental and public service institutions employes.

An estimated 1,000 will be contacted through this division.

Headed by Paul Blair, assistant superintendent of East Liverpool public schools, the division already has begun solicitations in local hospitals and schools, the two largest of the nine units in the division. Working toward a divisional quota of $3,000, the group hopes to complete its duties by Nov. 1.

Since his arrival here in 1954, Blair has been active in many local organizations, aside from his educational affiliations. He currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Columbiana County Public Health League, the County Mental Health Association and the Child Counseling Center. He is vice president of the local Kiwanis Club and a past-president of the Civic Music Association and has assisted in many Community Fund campaigns.

Team captains and the units they head in the Public Affairs Division are:

Mayor Bert Goodballet and Mrs. Marion Gerace, city employes; Miss Frances Jones, library employes; Mrs. Edna Jones, City Hospital and Osteopathic Hospital staffs; Ralph W. Betts, East Liverpool schools staff; Harry Densmore, U.S. employment bureau employes; Judge Louis Tobin, local employes at county courthouse; Samuel Brown and Rowland Kaufmann, post office employes; Irving Vorndran, employes of four recruiting offices; state liquor store and Board of Elections; Harry McConville — Internal Revenue Department local staff.

The work of this division is the third phase of the local campaign. The Special Gifts Division opened its solicitation Monday and the Mercantile unit began yesterday, bringing to 100 the number of active workers already in the field.

By the time other divisions receive and distribute their campaign supplies, an estimated 700 or 800 volunteers will be working on the drive, according to William A. Black, campaign chairman.

Black today urged all solicitors to turn in their reports promptly so "Red Feather Kid" awards may be displayed by winners. To qualify for the award, business or industrial firms, or departments in any institution, having five or more employes, must turn in minimum pledges or gifts of $6 from each of 80 per cent of their employes. As soon as reports are turned in, the "Red Feather Kid" display will be available to winners.

Nixon Declares Truman To Blame For Any U.S. Lag

CINCINNATI (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon says the Truman administration is to blame for any American lag behind Russia in intercontinental missiles.

In a position paper on space released Tuesday, the Republican presidential nominee repeated previous GOP charges that the United States made no effort under the Truman administration to match Russian missile developments.

Democrats have said the decision was made that rockets could not carry the then tremendously bulky nuclear warheads and it was not until after a breakthrough to lighter nuclear loads that missiles became practical as carriers.

Nixon said his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, was attempting "to hitch his political wagon to the Soviet Sputnik, charging that the Eisenhower administration is allowing the Soviets to outdistance us in the exploration of space."

"It is irresponsibility of the worst sort for an American presidential candidate to obscure the truth about America's magnificant achievements in space in an attempt to win votes," Nixon said.

The Republican nominee said that of 34 space satellites and probes successfully launched the United States has sent up 26.

Continuance Granted In Knife Assault Case

Acting Municipal Judge Robert A. Kapp today granted a defense motion for a continuance until Nov. 7 at 9 a. m. in the hearing for a 32-year-old woman charged with assault with a deadly weapon as the aftermath of an incident Oct. 19 in a Dresden Ave. tavern.

The continuance was requested by Atty. Bernard Pineman, counsel for Miss Thelma Hayes, 233 W. 9th St., charged in connection with knife wounds suffered by Mrs. Helen Webster, 38, of 603 Harrison St., Newell, in a fight at Roy's Bar.

Burns Prove Fatal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Claire Stewart, 80, of Columbus, died as the result of burns suffered in a fire at her hotel room here Tuesday, fire officials said. She suffered burns over 90 per cent of her body. The blaze apparently started in an overstuffed chair.

Columbus Girl Rather Excited About Note Found

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Help," said the note. "July 5, 1960. The finder of this message please contact the following: Marilyn Golden, 1154 Linwood Ave., Columbus, Ohio, U.S.A. . . ."

The message was found and Miss Golden is a rather excited young lady.

The message, in a champagne bottle, was found this week by W. J. Willis, chief forester for a Jarratt, Va., manufacturer. He was fishing along the North Carolina coast.

Miss Golden, a secretary at radio station WBNS here, said she wrote the note aboard the S.S. Santa Paula while on a cruise last July. She put the note in the bottle following the traditional captain's dinner and tossed it overboard.

"I was full of the romance of South America and I never expected anyone to find it," she said Tuesday. The ship was about 300 miles from the coast.

Willis also stands to collect $5 for his trouble. The note offered such a reward. Asked if she was going to send the money to Willis, Miss Golden said:

"Oh, sure. But I'm going to wait for him to write and ask for it."

Club Speaker Issues Alert

A warning for America to stand guard over its freedom was issued by Paul Bloor of East Liverpool in a talk about the trocities of Nazi Germany before the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night at the City Hall auditorium.

Bloor related his experiences as a soldier in visiting Dachau, a concentration camp, while in Germany in 1945. He described the use of gas ovens where hundreds of thousands of prisoners were killed, and told of other atrocities.

Bloor said the Communists and dictators elsewhere in the world today are repeating such violations of human rights and warned America must not remain complacent in the face of such threats.

He was introduced by Eugene Seeley, program chairman.

Plans were completed for the annual public pancake supper Nov. 2-3 at the City Hall.

Guests included Jeff Oyster and Bill Shaffer of the Key Club and Thayer Allison. Alvin Arner Jr., president, was in charge. About 24 attended.

Zanesville Man's Arrest May Nip Illegal Abortions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The arrest of a Zanesville man there Tuesday may help crack and illegal abortion ring operating in several counties, says Franklin County Prosecutor Earl W. Allison.

Late Tuesday Franklin County deputies and police officials from Zanesville and Grandview, a Columbus suburb, arrested Milton S. Anderson, 61, on a charge of performing an illegal abortion.

Allison said the Franklin County grand jury returned a secret indictment against Anderson Monday. The abortion cited in the jury's action was performed Sept. 8 at an address on Hilo Lane in Grandview, he said.

Officials began working on the case when the subject of the abortion almost died in White Cross Hospital as a result of the operation.

Allison gave no other details on the "ring" operation but said that Anderson's apprehension may aid authorities in breaking up its activities.

Anderson was taken to the Franklin County jail. An arraignment date has not been set.

126 Unhurt As Jet Skids To Nose Landing

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—An American Airlines 707 jet, bound from Los Angeles to Dallas, skidded to a safe nose landing Tuesday with 118 passengers and a crew of eight aboard.

The big jet circled the Dallas-Fort Worth area for more than an hour to exhaust fuel after it developed landing gear trouble, then came down on a foam-covered runway with little damage and no injuries.

Club Speaker Issues Alert

A warning for America to stand guard over its freedom was issued by Paul Bloor of East Liverpool in a talk about the trocities of Nazi Germany before the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night at the City Hall auditorium.

Bloor related his experiences as a soldier in visiting Dachau, a concentration camp, while in Germany in 1945. He described the use of gas ovens where hundreds of thousands of prisoners were killed, and told of other atrocities.

Bloor said the Communists and dictators elsewhere in the world today are repeating such violations of human rights and warned America must not remain complacent in the face of such threats.

He was introduced by Eugene Seeley, program chairman.

Plans were completed for the annual public pancake supper Nov. 2-3 at the City Hall.

Guests included Jeff Oyster and Bill Shaffer of the Key Club and Thayer Allison. Alvin Arner Jr., president, was in charge. About 24 attended.

Tab Hunter Innocent Of Dog-Beating Charge

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Actor Tab Hunter has been found innocent of charges that he beat his dog.

A jury of 11 women and one man deliberated three hours on cruelty-to-animals charges against the blond leading man. He shook hands with the jurors as they left Municipal Court here Tuesday.

He had been accused of beating his 2-year-old Weimaraner, Fritz. He said he had merely been disciplining the dog as directed by trainers. Veterinarians testified the animal showed no injuries.

Zanesville Man's Arrest May Nip Illegal Abortions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The arrest of a Zanesville man there Tuesday may help crack and illegal abortion ring operating in several counties, says Franklin County Prosecutor Earl W. Allison.

Late Tuesday Franklin County deputies and police officials from Zanesville and Grandview, a Columbus suburb, arrested Milton S. Anderson, 61, on a charge of performing an illegal abortion.

Allison said the Franklin County grand jury returned a secret indictment against Anderson Monday. The abortion cited in the jury's action was performed Sept. 8 at an address on Hilo Lane in Grandview, he said.

Officials began working on the case when the subject of the abortion almost died in White Cross Hospital as a result of the operation.

Allison gave no other details on the "ring" operation but said that Anderson's apprehension may aid authorities in breaking up its activities.

Anderson was taken to the Franklin County jail. An arraignment date has not been set.

St. Petersburg Paper Endorses Sen. Kennedy

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —The St. Petersburg Times today editorially endorsed Sen. John F. Kennedy for president.

The traditionally politically independent newspaper said it was backing the Democratic candidate because "many voters feel, as we do, that the nation cannot afford another era of divided government."

Sees GOP Victory

BELLE VERNON, Pa. (AP) — The Republican presidential ticket will win the Nov. 8 election by carrying seven "key" states, including Ohio, says John Roosevelt, son of the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Speaking to a Republican Party fund raising dinner Tuesday night Roosevelt said Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge would carry Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, Texas, Michigan and California.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Please, please, please, help me to see things clearly. I am being gossiped about plenty but if you give your approval I'll shut my ears to the talk and continue to live in my heavenly paradise.

I've been a widow for five years. My husband was a successful businessman and I also inherited considerable money from my own family.

I've fallen hopelessly in love with the bartender at my club. I'm not disguising the facts as some who write to you do, because everyone in town knows about this. The trouble is he is 22 years younger than I am.

I know he takes out girls his own age but he says this is only for appearances' sake. He's in love with me and wants to get married. He treats me better than my husband did, is far more considerate and claims he worships the ground I walk on.

Do you think he's a fortune hunter as I've been told—or could he be sincere?—I.K.M.

Dear I.K.M.: If this guy worships the ground you walk on it's probably because he thinks there's oil under it.

I suggest you get back into your own generation. This bartender has slipped you a mickey. If it's proof you want, tell him you'll marry him if he's willing to support you on his salary and sign a pre-marital agreement which cuts him out of your will.

Learned Too Late

Dear Ann: Your advice to Veronica was wonderful. I wish I had had someone like you to write to before I messed up my life at 16.

Veronica's description of her home life sounded a lot like mine—10 people in a small living room every night—down-and-out relatives sleeping on the couches, diapers strung across the dining room.

I married a man I didn't love because I wanted to get away from it all. Well, as you told her, Ann, marrying a guy just for "security" is swapping one set of troubles for another—which is often much worse.

Please keep pounding away at these young girls, Ann, telling them that if they can't stand it at home they're far better off getting a rented room or living in the YWCA.

It's always a mistake to marry a man just because he can provide food and shelter. No name of course, just sign me—GIRL WHO HAD NO ANN LANDERS.

Canine Coddlers

Dear Ann: I was very disappointed when you said it is ridiculous for people to treat dogs like children. After all, Ann, some dogs don't know they are dogs. I'm sure our poodles think they are children.

We call them "The Girls." They have no odor, they don't shed and they get regular professional baths, haircuts and manicures. I'm not ashamed to tell you they sleep on satin pillows.

"The Girls" wear red satin ribbons at all times. If a ribbon falls off, they bring it back for me to put back on. We wouldn't think of taking a vacation without them. No hotel has ever refused to let them in.

They give us more pleasure than our friends get from their children. They are loving, appreciative, obedient, loyal, and they never talk back.—MRS. 52.

Dear 52: This column is opposed to treating humans like dogs—and it's also opposed to treating dogs like humans. Equally sick. (Sunglasses, yet! ! !)

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to here in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Unanswered Question Still Bothers Him

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—George Radway, who retired this year as superintendent of Ohio Penal Industries, says a question asked him years ago by a reporter still bothers him because he never learned the answer.

A brochure prepared by a Penal Industries salesman proclaimed that each of the caskets produced in the penitentiary workshop was equipped with a safety catch.

Teach Children About Right And Wrong

Yesterday I quoted a sixth grade teacher who said, at a teachers' convention, that teachers, parents and other adults should talk with children about right and wrong. This struck me as rather unusual coming from a teacher. As you know, not so many years ago, teachers and parents were warned in books and articles not to talk with children about right and wrong except in situations where they had just done something wrong. Often you heard and read that "You can't teach character with words". Publishers of children's books were careful not to play up desirable behavior in stories. Stories just had to be interesting. Even fables almost wholly disappeared from children's readers and supplementary books.

I'VE NEVER believed this doctrine. Like you, I can remember some times when my parents or teachers talked about conduct when no problem immediately faced me or the group of children I was with. It happened at times when we all felt good and relaxed toward each other.

I'm sure such quiet talks, some for a few moments, some longer, had a lasting effect on me. No doubt you, too, have such memories.

During a period of several years following the last World War, Mrs. Meyers and I were engaged in directing public forums with parents in the evening.

During the day, we separately or together met with small groups of grade school children and got them talking about all sorts of problems of behavior. We found that they were eager participants.

You see, none of them felt under suspicion or blamed for anything. They used their memories and imaginations.

AT THAT TIME I was editor of a children's magazine in which I wrote chats with children, but I had a hard time convincing the publisher that children would be interested. But soon he received many enthusiastic letters from his young readers.

As editor of another children's magazine for 15 years, I have regularly written an editorial, "Let's Talk Things Over". It has proved one of the most popular features in that magazine, judging from the responses by the children who read it. Yet it talks with them about desirable behavior.

Children who can't read like to have it read to them. Older ones like to discuss it with their parents, teachers and playmates.

I'm convinced we parents and teachers should often talk with our children about right and wrong. The secret of success is doing so when we and the children feel calm, comfortable and companionable toward each other.

My bulletins, "A Parents' Prayer" and "Enjoying Our Children", may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Real! Raw! Racy!

Have you taken a walk down Broadway recently? I'm an old marquee reader from way back and never in my memory have the marquees been quite so game "Love by Appointment" whispers the marquee over the Rialto, where they've got a dandy double feature held over for the ninth smash week. "Unmarried Mothers" is the other one. "Call me anything but call me often," runs the caption under a half-dressed girl. "First New York Showing" (and almost certainly the last) "Most daring scenes ever shown. A story of unbridled passion and wanton love. Behind the scenes of a call girl racket. The girls who can't stop and the ones who won't."

John Crosby

The plug for "Unmarried Mothers" is rather mild: "A searing indictment of today's moral standards."

-:-

PRESENTLY comes the Paramount, which is featuring a confection called "Desire in the Dust." It's kind of hard to say what that one's all about.

"They whispered about the colonel and his daughter. No one new about the mother and the son. A challenging insight into the human hungers and the fires of the flesh."

What are they hinting at anyway?

"Just a quiet Southern town—until its hidden shames exploded into the light of day. Kin by kin or sin by sin, their hidden desires rocked a town!"

Just the thing for the kiddies!

So, on we go across the street to the Globe where you'll find "The Naked and the Wicked." ("No woman was safe with this brute. She was too much in love to realize she was doing wrong.")

-:-

IN THE SAME theater: "Las Vegas Strip" ("Never, no never before such scenes! A volcano of smouldering passions. Hours of ecstasy, months of regret. So what goes on—and comes off—at the strip joints and dice parlors.")

And plodding up the avenue, you come to "Expresso Bongo" ("Real! Raw! Racy!")

Up the block is "Hell to Eternity" ("On the beachhead or in a beach house Bill always made a perfect score. They said Sheila was cold to Marines—but Guy knew her boiling point. The big one that goes all the way.")

Man and boy, I've been walking under Broadway marquees for a long time now and I can't say that sort of teaser is a new trend. Hollywood has been boasting a long time about how it was going to lay my emotions bare with its searing flames, about the picture I dared them to make. (I did not ever dare them to make a picture. I've dared Hollywood not to make some pictures.)

-:-

BUT IT DOES seem to me that sex never has been so naked and unashamed (Gee, Mannie, that's a great title for our next picture) or so blatantly the only reason they make so many pictures.

I have several obvious objections to this besides the obvious one that it's awfully hard to find a picture to take the kiddies to.

The storm clouds are gathering, fellows.

"New Themes Beg Censorial Frown," says Variety in last week issue. "All indications are that the motion picture industry will face one of its most crucial legislative sessions in years," Variety reports.

An adjoining story in the same paper opens with: "Whether it's organized or unorganized, the fact remains that there is a distinct campaign against Skid Row morality in recent pictures and perhaps some of those upcoming."

Classification laws are pending in several states. These would require films to be labeled as in England for adults only or for the whole family. In addition, the Catholic Church is beginning to complain again—and small wonder.

TO BE FAIR to the picture business, the sexy marquee is not the only kind. The movie flacks still can write poesy, pure poesy about, their flicks that bring tears to the eyes of real marquee connoisseurs.

"A story of people as human as any you know today, the rich, the poor, the cruel, the kind. The lovers and the loved, the haters and the hated." I tell you that's writing. (From the lobby exhibit for "Ben Hur.")

Or ("Sunrise at Campobello"): "A story of love, a story of happiness. It is marriage and children. It is laughter through tears. It is devotion. It is courage."

But will it sell tickets?

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dynamic Living Can Help 'Stuck' Dieter

"All of a sudden I stopped losing," a young dieter complained. This is a typical lament for the leveling-off period which occurs in the best of regulated diets.

By Ida Jean Kain

In this case, the young lady reduced at a brisk clip for six weeks, losing 20 bulky pounds in that period. At this point in her program she is more than half-way home on the reducing score since she has only 15 pounds to go to reach normal weight.

She concludes her letter with, "I thought maybe I was eating too much so I cut down more, but I still have not lost. Also I have been having trouble with constipation. Can you help me to start losing again and to restore regularity?"

DIETERS, REALIZE that a lull in losing is normal. This weight plateau may occur at anytime during the reducing regime, but it is most likely to set in following the loss of the less solid fat. Also the nearer you get to normal weight, the less dramatic will be the rate of weight loss. This appears to be nature's plan.

On the diet score, take into consideration that there is a point below which you should not cut food. You can lose weight on a starvation diet, of course, but you also lose your energy and your gaiety.

In the first place, it takes a certain minimum number of calories, 900 to 1,000, to cover the protective nutrients needed to take care of the work of the body. When vital nutrients are left out of the diet, the body shifts its source of supply from food to body tissue. It's always a mistake to short-change yourself nutritionally.

Understand, too, that when calories are cut too low, you hit the law of diminishing returns. Nature cooperates by economizing and less fuel is burned. In prolonged dieting, the internal processes slow down.

This adjustment of the body to function with greater economy of fuel does not occur in a short period of dieting. However, because there is this tendency, from that standpoint alone, you can see it is not profitable to reduce the food intake too low.

A better plan is to step up exercise. With exercise, that is regular-daily exercise, the metabolic rate tends to rise. Remember, the rate of losing your stored fat is set by your calorie deficit — the difference between your daily fuel expenditure and the fuel provided in your daily food.

The more calories you can burn through exercise, the better your chance to resume reducing. Walk two miles a day and ease through shape-ups.

EXERCISE AT this stage of reducing is particularly rewarding since you can continue to lose inches even though the pounds refuse to budge.

More exercise will help to overcome the tendency to constipation. It would be well to include some laxative foods, such as prunes or prune juice. If you like buttermilk, have a pint daily. An apple a day or a ripe pear is helpful. The doctor may suggest you use some bulk-supplying product for a time.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Tobacco-Seals, Tanks-TV Week's Topics In Science

By The Associated Press

Tobacco and seals, tanks and TV, these are topics this week from science at work:

Have a Chaw

A scientist of the San Diego, Calif., Natural History museum swears he saw two elephant seals chewing leaves of the "Indian tobacco" plant on the shores of Guadalupe Island.

The plant, which contains nicotine, is a common West Coast weed. The Office of Naval Research says: This is "probably the first recorded instance of an elephant seal chewing tobacco."

Starry-eyed

Within three years the United States plans to have an unmanned 3,200-pound telescope satellite so accurate it will be able to pin its glance on individual stars. That's roughly like sighting and watching a basketball 500 miles away.

The satellite will report back to earth by television and radio. Its telescopes, using 36-inch reflecting mirrors, will give man a clear picture of the universe from above the earth's distorting haze.

TV for Tanks

An Army engineer says possibilities look good for using television to enable drivers of tanks and other tracked vehicles to drive in safety across battlefields hot with radiation from exploded nuclear weapons.

Lt. Gene Brown of Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., says preliminary tests using a television camera and receiver as the only means of visibility in a completely closed tank indicate the technique is feasible.

World of Plenty

Research may be moving man into a society of plenty where income may make little difference between individuals, a University of Michigan economist suggests.

We may be in the first stages of this "post-civilization" says Prof. Kenneth Boulding. But in the transition we face two dangers:

Population explosion—a world of 200 billion people in some 200 years would live in an endless world slum-city on a diet of yeast and algae, decimated by famine.

Nuclear annihilation—no nation, no matter how large can defend its heartland from destruction.

Magazine Sale Goal Is $6,000

A goal of $6,000 has been set in the annual magazine sale which will be opened with a special assembly Thursday afternoon at East Liverpool High School.

Proceeds from the sale pay for the Junior - Senior Prom, special assemblies, and visual education program and help meet the costs of the sophomore party and other student activities.

The first report will be made Monday with the final sales day on Nov. 8.

The daily awards will include cash, trophies and candy and ice cream parties.

The five top salesmen in the school will receive capital awards while the highest room in each class will receive theater parties. The teacher of the registration room accumulating the most points will be given a steak dinner for two.

Six of the top salesmen still are in school this year. They include Susan Vodrey, Beverly Couch, Rich Crable, Carolyn McKinnon, Bruce Weiner and Vicki Heidel.

Accuracy Counts

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A duel between a customer with a shotgun and bartender Cecil Dewailly with a beer bottle ended with the barman the winner. The man with the gun missed, police reported, and Dewailly tossed his bottle, beaning the gunman between the eyes.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Real! Raw! Racy!

Have you taken a walk down Broadway recently? I'm an old marquee reader from way back and never in my memory have the marquees been quite so game as "Love by Appointment" whispers the marquee over the Rialto, where they've got a dandy double feature held over for the ninth smash week. "Unmarried Mothers" is the other one. "Call me anything but call me often," runs the caption under a half-dressed girl. "First New York Showing" (and almost certainly the last) "Most daring scenes ever shown. A story of unbridled passion and wanton love. Behind the scenes of a call girl racket. The girls who can't stop and the ones who won't."

John Crosby

The plug for "Unmarried Mothers" is rather mild: "A searing indictment of today's moral standards."

PRESENTLY comes the Paramount, which is featuring a confection called "Desire in the Dust." It's kind of hard to say what that one's all about.

"They whispered about the colonel and his daughter. No one new about the mother and the son. A challenging insight into the human hungers and the fires of the flesh."

What are they hinting at anyway?

"Just a quiet Southern town—until its hidden shames exploded into the light of day. Kin by kin or sin by sin, their hidden desires rocked a town!"

Just the thing for the kiddies!

So, on we go across the street to the Globe where you'll find "The Naked and the Wicked." ("No woman was safe with this brute. She was too much in love to realize she was doing wrong.")

IN THE SAME theater: "Las Vegas Strip" ("Never, no never before such scenes! A volcano of smouldering passions. Hours of ecstasy, months of regret. So what goes on—and comes off—at the strip joints and dice parlors.")

And plodding up the avenue, you come to "Expresso Bongo" ("Real! Raw! Racy!")

Up the block is "Hell to Eternity" ("On the beachhead or in a beach house Bill always made a perfect score. They said Sheila was cold to Marines—but Guy knew her boiling point. The big one that goes all the way.")

Man and boy, I've been walking under Broadway marquees for a long time now and I can't say that sort of teaser is a new trend. Hollywood has been boasting a long time about how it was going to lay my emotions bare with its searing flames, about the picture I dared them to make. (I did not ever dare them to make a picture. I've dared Hollywood not to make some pictures.)

BUT IT DOES seem to me that era never has been so naked and unashamed (Geo, Mamie, that's a great title for our next picture) or so blatantly the only reason they make so many pictures.

I have several obvious objections to this besides the obvious one that it's awfully hard to find a picture to take the kiddies to.

The storm clouds are gathering, fellows.

"New Themes Beg Censorial Frown," says Variety in last week issue. "All indications are that the motion picture industry will face one of its most crucial legislative sessions in years," Variety reports.

An adjoining story in the same paper opens with: "Whether it's organized or unorganized, the fact remains that there is a distinct campaign against Skid Row morality in recent pictures and perhaps some of those upcoming."

Classification laws are pending in several states. These would require films to be labeled as in England for adults only or for the whole family. In addition, the Catholic Church is beginning to complain again—and small wonder.

TO BE FAIR to the picture business, the sexy marquee is not the only kind. The movie flacks still can write poesy, pure poesy about, their flicks that bring tears to the eyes of real marquee connoisseurs.

"A story of people as human as any you know today, the rich, the poor, the cruel, the kind. The lovers and the loved, the haters and the hated." I tell you that's writing. (From the lobby exhibit for "Ben Hur.")

Or ("Sunrise at Campobello"): "A story of love, a story of happiness. It is marriage and children. It is laughter through tears. It is devotion. It is courage."

But will it sell tickets?

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dynamic Living Can Help 'Stuck' Dieter

"All of a sudden I stopped losing," a young dieter complained. This is a typical lament for the leveling-off period which occurs in the best of regulated diets.

By Ida Jean Kain

In this case, the young lady reduced at a brisk clip for six weeks, losing 20 bulky pounds in that period. At this point in her program she is more than half-way home on the reducing score since she has only 15 pounds to go to reach normal weight.

She concludes her letter with, "I thought maybe I was eating too much so I cut down more, but I still have not lost. Also I have been having trouble with constipation. Can you help me to start losing again and to restore regularity?"

DIETERS, REALIZE that a lull in losing is normal. This weight plateau may occur at anytime during the reducing regime, but it is most likely to set in following the loss of the less solid fat. Also the nearer you get to normal weight, the less dramatic will be the rate of weight loss. This appears to be nature's plan.

On the diet score, take into consideration that there is a point below which you should not cut food. You can lose weight on a starvation diet, of course, but you also lose your energy and your gaiety.

In the first place, it takes a certain minimum number of calories, 900 to 1,000, to cover the protective nutrients needed to take care of the work of the body. When vital nutrients are left out of the diet, the body shifts its source of supply from food to body tissue. It's always a mistake to short-change yourself nutritionally.

Understand, too, that when calories are cut too low, you hit the law of diminishing returns. Nature cooperates by economizing and less fuel is burned. In prolonged dieting, the internal processes slow down.

This adjustment of the body to function with greater economy of fuel does not occur in a short period of dieting. However, because there is this tendency, from that standpoint alone, you can see it is not profitable to reduce the food intake too low.

A better plan is to step up exercise. With exercise, that is regularly exercise, the metabolic rate tends to rise. Remember, the rate of losing your stored fat is set by your calorie deficit — the difference between your daily fuel expenditure and the fuel provided in your daily food.

The more calories you can burn through exercise, the better your chance to resume reducing. Walk two miles a day and ease through shape-ups.

EXERCISE AT this stage of reducing is particularly rewarding since you can continue to lose inches even though the pounds refuse to budge.

More exercise will help to overcome the tendency to constipation. It would be well to include some laxative foods, such as prunes or prune juice. If you like buttermilk, have a pint daily. An apple a day or a ripe pear is helpful. The doctor may suggest you use some bulk-supplying product for a time.

Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Tobacco-Seals, Tanks-TV Week's Topics In Science

By The Associated Press

Tobacco and seals, tanks and TV, these are topics this week from science at work:

Have a Chew

A scientist of the San Diego, Calif., Natural History museum swears he saw two elephant seals chewing leaves of the "Indian tobacco" plant on the shores of Guadalupe Island.

The plant, which contains nicotine, is a common West Coast weed. The Office of Naval Research says: This is "probably the first recorded instance of an elephant seal chewing tobacco."

Starry-eyed

Within three years the United States plans to have an unmanned 3,200-pound telescope satellite so accurate it will be able to pin its glance on individual stars. That's roughly like sighting and watching a basketball 200 miles away.

The satellite will report back to earth by television and radio. Its telescopes, using 36-inch reflecting mirrors, will give man a clear picture of the universe from above the earth's distorting haze.

TV for Tanks

An Army engineer says possibilities look good for using television to enable drivers of tanks and other tracked vehicles to drive in safety across battlefields hot with radiation from exploded nuclear weapons.

Lt. Gene Brown of Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., says preliminary tests using a television camera and receiver as the only means of visibility in a completely closed tank indicate the technique is feasible.

World of Plenty

Research may be moving man into a society of plenty where income may make little difference between individuals, a University of Michigan economist suggests.

We may be in the first stages of this "post-civilization" says Prof. Kenneth Boulding. But in the transition we face two dangers:

Population explosion—a world of 300 billion people in some 300 years would live in an endless world slum-city on a diet of yeast and algae, decimated by famine.

Nuclear annihilation—no nation, no matter how large can defend its heartland from destruction.

Magazine Sale Goal Is $6,000

A goal of $6,000 has been set in the annual magazine sale which will be opened with a special assembly Thursday afternoon at East Liverpool High School.

Proceeds from the sale pay for the Junior - Senior Prom, special assemblies, and visual education program and help meet the costs of the sophomore party and other student activities.

The first report will be made Monday with the final sales day on Nov. 8.

The daily awards will include cash, trophies and candy and ice cream parties.

The five top salesmen in the school will receive capital awards while the highest room in each class will receive theater parties. The teacher of the registration room accumulating the most points will be given a steak dinner for two.

Six of the top salesmen still are in school this year. They include Susan Vodrey, Beverly Couch, Rich Crable, Carolyn McKinnon, Bruce Weiner and Vicki Heidel.

Accuracy Counts

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A duel between a customer with a shotgun and bartender Cecil Dewailly with a beer bottle ended with the barman the winner. The man with the gun missed, police reported, and Dewailly tossed his bottle, beaning the gunman between the eyes.

Chili Beef Stacks With Frozen French Fries

Frozen French fries are a favorite vegetable. And it's no wonder! The tasty tricks you can do with them are endless. This new meal is a double-barreled combination of two all-time favorites . . . individual meat loaves and frozen French fries. The new twist is a savory chili sauce that flavors both the meat and the potatoes.

Green peas with mushrooms and a creamy cole slaw go well with this casserole. But do serve a light dessert. It's a filling dish and don't be surprised if everyone wants double-barreled helpings.

1½ pounds ground beef
½ pound ground pork
¾ cup rolled oats, quick or regular
1 cup milk
1 cup chopped onion
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 beef bouillon cubes
1 cup hot water
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
2 teaspoons chili powder
2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen French fries

Combine meat, oats, milk, 1-3 cup chopped onion, salt and pepper. Mix well. Shape into 6 stacks or cones. Place in shallow 2-quart casserole (11x7x1½ inches).

Dissolve bouillion cubes in water. Add tomato suace, remaining 2-3 cup chopped onion and chili powder; pour over meat. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until meat is done, about 1 hour. Spoon French fries in baking sheets; season as desired with salt and pepper and heat in oven with meat during the last 20 minutes of baking time. To serve add potatoes to sauce in baking dish. Yield: 6 servings.

Some Phases Face Airing

Congress Will 'Lift Lid' On Super-Roads Program

In a program involving acquisition of vast areas of land and the award of thousands of contracts, sour apples are likely to crop up. This second of four articles based on a five-month investigation of the federal highway program turns the spotlight on some of the darker corners.

By BEM PRICE
AP Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sooner or later Congress will lift the lid on the nation's greatest highway program in history, probably after the November election.

And there's no doubt that some phases of the $41-billion program could stand a thorough airing.

Generally, progress is being made on a broad front, and good roads are being built at reasonable cost. But there have been retreats and defeats in some sectors — occasionally spectacular ones.

Where difficulties exist, an on-the-spot investigation of several months indicates, they often revolve around land acquisition and sometimes around contract awards and contract performance. There have been instances of complete road failures and, to use a highway engineer's term, "distressed" roads that need repair shortly after completion.

For weeks House investigators have had reports from West Virginia, Florida, and Massachusetts which point toward land speculation and fraud.

In West Virginia, certain contractors reportedly charged the state for road building materials that did not actually go into the roads.

The Florida report deals with conflict of interest cases and around Miami there are reports of speculation in land for rights-of-way.

In Indiana, site of the now well-known 1957 scandal, rumors still circulate of secret "deals" among politicians, businessmen and contractors.

Any effort to check these hidden relationships leads ultimately to the Indiana Department of Securities, which keeps a record of major stockholders in Indiana firms. There the check ends. The department's records are secret.

A staff member of the House subcommittee on the federal aid program was asked why the Indiana rumors hadn't been investigated. "There have been so many and they are so complicated," he replied, "that we just haven't had the manpower to do it."

The original Indiana scandals resulted in the indictment of two top aides to former Gov. George Craig on charges of conspiring to bribe Virgil W. Smith, highway commission chairman, in connection with the purchase of highway equipment.

Smith began serving a prison sentence of 2 to 14 years last month after conviction on a charge of soliciting and accepting bribes. Three others connected with this case and another involving charges of conspiracy to embezzle $28,000 in state funds to speculate in rights-of-way have been convicted but are free on appeal bonds.

There were also indictments against three Carpenters' Union officials and Harry Doggett, former state right-of-way official, for conspiring to sell land to the state at a $81,000 profit. Their trial now is under way after almost three years delay. One of the officials is Maurice Hutcheson, Carpenters' Union president.

A state investigation of land purchases uncovered five property owners along Indianapolis' Madison Avenue Expressway who were paid $117,350 for land not needed for the road.

Land is still a problem in Indiana.

State Atty. Gen. Edwin K. Steers has over 500 land condemnation cases pending in court. Steers estimated in an interview that it costs Indiana $2,500 to try a land case, mostly because the state pays independent fee appraisers $50 to $150 a day each for a court appearance. The cases rarely last less than two days, and three appraisers usually have to testify.

Juries in Indiana have had an almost unbroken record of granting large awards since 1957.

The GOP platform for the November gubernatorial contest between Republican Crawford F. Parker and Democrat Matthew E. Welsh doesn't mention highways.

Gov. Handley observed, "All that could have been said was that the program would be continued and expanded. Why emphasize the obvious?"

In the election campaign, one of Welsh's main talking points has been the need to move faster and more efficiently on highway construction.

Early in the campaign the Republicans dumped the present highway commission chairman, John Peters.

Peters sought nomination as state treasurer. Literally at the last minute Gov. Handley's aide, Robert E. Hughes, filed against Peters at Parker's behest and was nominated.

The latest Bureau of Public Roads report, listing figures as of June 30, 1960, credits Indiana with 12 miles of superhighways "completed to full or acceptable standards" and 1,439 miles of secondary, primary and urban roads built or improved.

The same report credits neighboring Illinois with 97 miles of superhighways and 3,307 miles of improvement or new construction in primary, secondary and urban roads.

Indiana's neighbor on the other side, Ohio, shows up in the report with 284 miles of superhighways and 1,341 miles of primary, secondary and urban road improvements or new construction.

Customarily there is a paperwork lag between the time a road is finished and appearance in the Bureau of Roads "completed" column. Parker has said during his campaign that Indiana will have finished 124 miles of superhighways by the end of this year. The federal figures, however, are the most authoritative available comparison of the three states as of four months ago.

Thursday: land, material and performance.

DiSalle Discusses Amish Schools At News Conference

CANTON,, Ohio (AP) — "If the Amish people were exempted, some other group that may want to establish schools also might want to be exempted" from the state's minimum educational standards, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said here Tuesday.

"Under this situation, where does the state draw the line and where does it stop?" DiSalle asked at a news conference.

"While I have talked to these people and believe they are sincere, I also feel they are very set in their ways."

Most of Ohio's Amish live in an area within a 50-mile range to the south and west of Canton. But one of the major clashes with the state on education was in an Amish community much farther west—in Hardin County, which has a case now pending in the Ohio Supreme Court.

Last Saturday, Medina County Common Pleas Court issued an order forbidding an Amish school at Homerville to operate until it met state educational standards. Tuesday Supt. Harold White of Medina County schools said the order by Judge Windsor E. Kellogg was being violated.

Chili Beef Stacks With Frozen French Fries

Frozen French fries are a favorite vegetable. And it's no wonder! The tasty tricks you can do with them are endless. This new meal is a double-barreled combination of two all-time favorites . . . individual meat loaves and frozen French fries. The new twist is a savory chili sauce that flavors both the meat and the potatoes.

Green peas with mushrooms and a creamy cole slaw go well with this casserole. But do serve a light dessert. It's a filling dish and don't be surprised if everyone wants double-barreled helpings.

1½ pounds ground beef
½ pound ground pork
¾ cup rolled oats, quick or regular
1 cup milk
1 cup chopped onion
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 beef bouillon cubes
1 cup hot water
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
2 teaspoons chili powder
2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen French fries

Combine meat, oats, milk, 1-3 cup chopped onion, salt and pepper. Mix well. Shape into 6 stacks or cones. Place in shallow 2-quart casserole (11x7x1½ inches).

Dissolve bouillion cubes in water. Add tomato suace, remaining 2-3 cup chopped onion and chili powder; pour over meat. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until meat is done, about 1 hour. Spoon French fries in baking sheets; season as desired with salt and pepper and heat in oven with meat during the last 20 minutes of baking time. To serve add potatoes to sauce in baking dish. Yield: 6 servings.

Some Phases Face Airing

Congress Will 'Lift Lid' On Super-Roads Program

In a program involving acquisition of vast areas of land and the award of thousands of contracts, sour apples are likely to crop up. This second of four articles based on a five-month investigation of the federal highway program turns the spotlight on some of the darker corners.

By BEM PRICE
AP Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sooner or later Congress will lift the lid on the nation's greatest highway program in history, probably after the November election.

And there's no doubt that some phases of the $41-billion program could stand a thorough airing.

Generally, progress is being made on a broad front, and good roads are being built at reasonable cost. But there have been retreats and defeats in some sectors — occasionally spectacular ones.

Where difficulties exist, an on-the-spot investigation of several months indicates, they often revolve around land acquisition and sometimes around contract awards and contract performance. There have been instances of complete road failures and, to use a highway engineer's term, "distressed" roads that need repair shortly after completion.

For weeks House investigators have had reports from West Virginia, Florida, and Massachusetts which point toward land speculation and fraud.

In West Virginia, certain contractors reportedly charged the state for road building materials that did not actually go into the roads.

The Florida report deals with conflict of interest cases and around Miami there are reports of speculation in land for rights-of-way.

In Indiana, site of the now well-known 1957 scandal, rumors still circulate of secret "deals" among politicians, businessmen and contractors.

Any effort to check these hidden relationships leads ultimately to the Indiana Department of Securities, which keeps a record of major stockholders in Indiana firms. There the check ends. The department's records are secret.

A staff member of the House subcommittee on the federal aid program was asked why the Indiana rumors hadn't been investigated. "There have been so many and they are so complicated," he replied, "that we just haven't had the manpower to do it."

The original Indiana scandals resulted in the indictment of two top aides to former Gov. George Craig on charges of conspiring to bribe Virgil W. Smith, highway commission chairman, in connection with the purchase of highway equipment.

Smith began serving a prison sentence of 2 to 14 years last month after conviction on a charge of soliciting and accepting bribes. Three others connected with this case and another involving charges of conspiracy to embezzle $20,000 in state funds to speculate in rights-of-way have been convicted but are free on appeal bonds.

There were also indictments against three Carpenters' Union officials and Harry Doggett, former state right-of-way official, for conspiring to sell land to the state at a $61,000 profit. Their trial now is under way after almost three years delay. One of the officials is Maurice Hutcheson, Carpenters' Union president.

A state investigation of land purchases uncovered five property owners along Indianapolis' Madison Avenue Expressway who were paid $117,350 for land not needed for the road.

Land is still a problem in Indiana.

State Atty. Gen. Edwin K. Steers has over 500 land condemnation cases pending in court. Steers estimated in an interview that it costs Indiana $2,500 to try a land case, mostly because the state pays independent fee appraisers $50 to $150 a day each for a court appearance. The cases rarely last less than two days, and three appraisers usually have to testify.

Juries in Indiana have had an almost unbroken record of granting large awards since 1957.

One of the major planks in the platform of Gov. Harold W. Handley, Craig's successor, was creation of a sound highway program.

The GOP platform for the November gubernatorial contest between Republican Crawford F. Parker and Democrat Matthew E. Welsh doesn't mention highways.

Gov. Handley observed, "All that could have been said was that the program would be continued and expanded. Why emphasize the obvious?"

In the election campaign, one of Welsh's main talking points has been the need to move faster and more efficiently on highway construction.

Early in the campaign the Republicans dumped the present highway commission chairman, John Peters.

Peters sought nomination as state treasurer. Literally at the last minute Gov. Handley's aide, Robert E. Hughes, filed against Peters at Parker's behest and was nominated.

The latest Bureau of Public Roads report, listing figures as of June 30, 1960, credits Indiana with 12 miles of superhighways "completed to full or acceptable standards" and 1,439 miles of secondary, primary and urban roads built or improved.

The same report credits neighboring Illinois with 97 miles of superhighways and 3,307 miles of improvement or new construction in primary, secondary and urban roads.

Indiana's neighbor on the other side, Ohio, shows up in the report with 284 miles of superhighways and 1,341 miles of primary, secondary and urban road improvements or new construction.

Customarily there is a paperwork lag between the time a road is finished and appearance in the Bureau of Roads "completed" column. Parker has said during his campaign that Indiana will have finished 124 miles of superhighways by the end of this year. The federal figures, however, are the most authoritative available comparison of the three states as of four months ago.

Thursday: land, material and performance.

DiSalle Discusses Amish Schools At News Conference

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — "If the Amish people were exempted, some other group that may want to establish schools also might want to be exempted" from the state's minimum educational standards, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said here Tuesday.

"Under this situation, where does the state draw the line and where does it stop?" DiSalle asked at a news conference.

"While I have talked to these people and believe they are sincere, I also feel they are very set in their ways."

Most of Ohio's Amish live in an area within a 30-mile range to the south and west of Canton. But one of the major clashes with the state on education was in an Amish community much farther west—in Hardin County, which has a case now pending in the Ohio Supreme Court.

Last Saturday, Medina County Common Pleas Court issued an order forbidding an Amish school at Homerville to operate until it met state educational standards. Tuesday Supt. Harold White of Medina County schools said the order by Judge Windsor E. Kellogg was being violated.
